Transnational Memory Chiara De Cesari,Ann Rigney,2014-10-29 How do memories circulate transnationally and to what effect How to understand the enduring role of national memories and their simultaneous reconfiguration under globalization Challenging the methodological nationalism that has until recently dominated the study of memory and heritage this book charts the rich production of memory across and beyond national borders Arguing for the fruitfulness of a transnational as distinct from a global approach it places the issues of circulation articulation and the scales of remembrance at the centre of its inquiry In the process it sheds new light on the ways in which mediation post coloniality migration and regional integration affect both the way we remember and the role of memory in contemporary societies In this interdisciplinary collection humanities and social science scholars examine a rich sample of cases from the nineteenth century on stretching across the globe from Vietnam to Europe and the Middle East to the USA and the Pacific and involving a wide range of cultural practices from quilting to films from photography to heritage sites and monuments In the process the volume develops a new theoretical framework while proposing new methodological tools and resources for studying collective remembrance beyond the nation state

Risk Management for Food Allergy Charlotte Madsen, Rene Crevel, Clare Mills, Steve Taylor, 2013-11-13 Risk Management for Food Allergy is developed by a team of scientists and industry professionals who understand the importance of allergen risk assessment and presents practical real world guidance for food manufacturers With more than 12 million Americans suffering from food allergies and little indication of what is causing that number to continue to grow food producers packagers and distributors need to appropriately process label and deliver their products to ensure the safety of customers with allergic conditions By identifying risk factors during processing as well as determining appropriate safe thresholds of ingredients the food industry must take increasingly proactive steps to avoid direct or cross contamination as well as ensuring that their products are appropriately labeled and identified for those at risk This book covers a range of critical topics in this area including the epidemiology of food allergy assessing allergen thresholds and risk specifics of gluten management and celiac disease and much more The practical advice on factory risk management catering industry practices allergen detection and measurement and regulatory controls is key for food industry professionals as well as regulators in government and other public bodies Science based insights into the potential risks of food allergens Focused section on determining thresholds Practical guidance on food allergen risk management including case studies

Visual Coding and Adaptability C. S. Harris, 2014-02-25 First published in 1980 This book is the first integrated presentation of two of the most active areas in present day visual research Its inspiration and nucleus were provided by two Optical Society of America symposia one on the coding of spatial information in the visual system and the other on adaptability of the visual system Although the two topics might seem at first sight only distantly related they are actually extensively intertwined in contemporary research Some investigators focus on mechanisms of visual analysis but rely on experimental modification of perception to reveal the nature of the coding others focus on perceptual modification but look at analytic elements for indications about what it is that gets modified Likewise most of the chapters in this book combine in varying proportions both themes Adult human perception is the primary concern but illuminating data from animal infant and neurophysiological studies are also discussed
