Herrmann,2020-03-31 David Herrmann s work is the most complete study to date of how land based military power influenced international affairs during the series of diplomatic crises that led up to the First World War Instead of emphasizing the naval arms race which has been extensively studied before Herrmann draws on documentary research in military and state archives in Germany France Austria England and Italy to show the previously unexplored effects of changes in the strength of the European armies during this period Herrmann's work provides not only a contribution to debates about the causes of the war but also an account of how the European armies adopted the new weaponry of the twentieth century in the decade before 1914 including quick firing artillery machine guns motor transport and aircraft In a narrative account that runs from the beginning of a series of international crises in 1904 until the outbreak of the war Herrmann points to changes in the balance of military power to explain why the war began in 1914 instead of at some other time Russia was incapable of waging a European war in the aftermath of its defeat at the hands of Japan in 1904-5 but in 1912 when Russia appeared to be regaining its capacity to fight an unprecedented land armaments race began Consequently when the July crisis of 1914 developed the atmosphere of military competition made war a far more likely outcome than it would have been a decade earlier

The Guns of Europe Joseph Alexander Altsheler, 1924-01-01 John turned a little to the left going nearer to the window where he could gain a better view of the Madonna which he had heard so often was the most famous picture in the world He was no technical judge of painting he was far too young for such knowledge but he always considered the effect of the whole upon himself and he was satisfied with that method feeling perhaps that he gained more from it than if he had been able to tear the master work to pieces merely in order to see how Raphael had made it Note well John that this is the Sistine Madonna began William Anson in his didactic tutorial tone Observe the wonderful expression upon the face of the Holy Mother Look now at the cherubs gazing up into the blue vault in which the Madonna like an angel is poised Behold the sublime artist's mastery of every detail There are those who hold that the Madonna della Sedia at Florence is its equal in beauty and greatness but I do not agree with them To me the Sistine Madonna is always first Centuries ago even its full worth was appreciated It brought a great price at The rest of his speech trailed off into nothingness John had impatiently moved further away and had deliberately closed his ear also to any dying sounds of oratory that might reach him He had his own method of seeing the wonders of the Old World He was interested or he was not It was to him a state of mind atmospheric in a way He liked to breathe it in and the rattle of a guide or tutor's lecture nearly always broke the spell Anxious that Mr Anson should not have any further chance to mar his pleasure he moved yet closer to the great window from which came nearly all the light that fell upon the Sistine Madonna There he stood almost in the center of the beams and gazed upon the illumined face which spoke only of peace upon earth and good will He was moved deeply although there was no sign of it in his quiet eyes He did not object to emotion and to its vivid expression in others but his shy nature feeling the need of a defensive armor rejected it for himself It was a brighter day than the changeful climate of Dresden and the valley of the Elbe usually offered The sunshine came in a great golden bar through the window and glowed over the wonderful painting which had stood the test of time and the critics He had liked the good gray city sitting beside its fine river It had seemed friendly and kind to him having in it the quality of home something almost American in its simplicity and lack of caste
