The Global Experience: Readings in world history since 1500 Philip F. Riley, 1998 Abolitions as a Global Experience Hideaki Suzuki, 2015-11-16 The abolition of slavery and similar institutions of servitude was an important global experience of the nineteenth century Considering how tightly bonded into each local society and economy were these institutions why and how did people decide to abolish them This collection of essays examines the ways this globally shared experience appeared and developed Chapters cover a variety of different settings from West Africa to East Asia the Indian Ocean and the Caribbean with close consideration of the British French and Dutch colonial contexts as well as internal developments in Russia and Japan What part of the abolition decision was due to international pressure and what part due to local factors Furthermore this collection does not solely focus on the moment of formal abolition but looks hard at the aftermath of abolition and also at the ways abolition was commemorated and remembered in later years This book complicates the conventional story that global abolition was essentially a British moralizing effort among the three or four perfectly virtuous pages comprised in the history of nations Using comparison and connection this book tells a story of dynamic encounters between local and global contexts of which the local efforts of British abolition campaigns were a part Looking at abolitions as a globally shared experience provides an important perspective not only to the field of slavery and abolition studies but also the field of global or world history The Global Experience Philip F. Riley, Frank A.
