Eat garlic and stay healthy. This is the message of a new book named "Garlic: Nature's Original Remedy", which presents quite a convincing case. Garlic kills many ailments and-sometimes more efficiently than commonly used medicines. It may help protect us against heart disease and mild form of diabetes. The book also reports that eating garlic may possibly guard against cancer.

However, this is not true that garlic always helps cure. In other words, it does not always work. Although it has some advantages, it may cause a burning feeling in the mouth and stomach and in especially sensitive people with asthma, headaches and depression.

There are remedies and recipes for garlic based dishes in the book, but it warns that if your problem is serious, you should see a professional herbalist. If you're worried about the smell, herbs such as parsley can help it to hide it.
