

Task Card #72

Read this selection.

Gina and Katie were told to never go near the Anderson home. The Andersons were nowhere to be seen. But there was no sign of where they might have gone. The remainder of their breakfast was still on the kitchen table as if they had left that morning. The newspaper Mr. Anderson read was still on the chair next to the table open to the sports page. Their coats and hats were hanging on the coat rack untouched. It had been twenty years since anyone had seen the Andersons. The curiosity was killing Gina and Katie, they had to see it for themselves.

A reader could conclude the theme of this story might be—

- A. details don't always lead to facts
- B. don't look for something you really don't want to find
- C. look before you leap
- D. never trust your instincts

Task Card #73

Read this selection.

It was a day like the day before and the day after. The wind wrapped itself around the sod cabin in gutting moans as the pioneer family within carried out their tasks pretending not to hear. They heard the wind, however. It had been their constant companion on the open plains since their journey from Philadelphia two years before in the spring of 1865. Following the covered wagon train of ten, the wind had lifted the drab landscape into billows of dust falling on everyone and everything until there seemed but one color and one sound.

From reading this story, the reader could infer that—

- A. the dust was destroying their health.
- B. being a pioneer was exciting
- C. even though the dust was significant, people went on about their day as usual.
- D. the dust made a beautiful landscape

Task Card #74

Read this selection.

His name was Silver Sam and we thought of him as the meanest, ugliest, most disgusting man in our western town. He was a coward who hid behind a gun. He didn't much like to work, was a con-sproke a few months out of the year and the rest of the time he played and cheated at cards and killed anybody who called him on it. There wasn't a soul that didn't fear Silver Sam, even my Father. The townspeople ended up offering a reward of $20,000 to anyone who could run Silver Sam out of town.

The theme of this passage most likely is—

- A. don't count your eggs before they hatch
- B. never judge a book by its cover
- C. trouble starts at home or in a town
- D. it just takes one bad egg to ruin a town

Task Card #75

Read this selection.

One very windy day the stagecoach arrived in town with an unusual passenger. I was there to witness it because it was my duty to water the stagecoach horses. The stagecoach door swung open and a single man, tall and gaunt and dressed in a brown/black coat and hat, with a white collar, stepped out. I had seen pictures of Abraham Lincoln and that is who this man reminded me of, although I knew Abraham Lincoln would not have been wearing a preacher's clothes. He waved the coachman away as he reached for his own trunk off the roof of the stagecoach.

From reading this passage, the reader can conclude—

- A. that strangers in this town get noticed
- B. that the stranger was pretending to be Abraham Lincoln
- C. that the author disliked the stranger
- D. the stranger was familiar with the town

5th Grade STAAR Test Prep Mark Shannon,2018-01-17 This test prep is good for kids who are on the fence and having trouble passing or need to increase their margin These kids will often say I DON T KNOW WHERE TO START when explaining their confusion This book address that problem with three approaches 1 In contrast with the other study guides that use random questions in their practice exams this book collated the questions into chapters based on the logic to solve them The 5th grade book is divided into eight chapters They are Logic Arithmetic Geometry Fractions Reading Graphs and tables Measurements including a ruler basic statistics and order of operations This book teaches basics then goes into practice exams with word problems Once the student is proficient with the questions organized into chapters then they are ready for random questions 2 This study guide has thousands of practice problems I have placed over 3100 videos on YouTube showing you how to work the problems3 I reviewed several years of past exams and placed enfacs on the easiest and most common questions Mastering these questions should yield a 75% to 80% If a student is already achieving this percentage the other guides or web site with random questions and covering all material might be best A book might be better for your student than the web sites for two reasons 1 The more common and easiest questions are using a ruler to measure The web designers don t know the size of your computer screen and can t determine if the student has measured correctly We can get a high percentage of these problems easily 2 When studying on a computer there are too many websites with the answers With a book parents can have greater assurance the work is being done This book is developed by a trained professional out of concern It is not the product of a large publishing house It is the results of one person who wants to help Best RegardsMark Shannon
