

The background of the book cover is a photograph of a construction site. It shows a series of vertical wooden formwork panels that create a series of rectangular compartments. These compartments are filled with a thick, textured material, which is hemp-lime. A wooden beam runs horizontally across the top of the formwork. In the upper right corner, there is a yellow oval sticker with a dashed border. The authors' names, 'William Stanwix' and 'Alex Sparrow', are printed in white text in the upper left area. The title 'The Hempcrete Book' is prominently displayed in the center, and the subtitle 'Designing and building with hemp-lime' is at the bottom.

Materials Hattie Hartman, Joe Jack Williams, 2024-03-01 The environmental impacts of construction are momentous How can architects minimise these by making responsible material choices Material choices have a global impact The design and construction industry are responsible for 39% of all carbon emissions in the world Despite the great desire among architects to address this it can be difficult to compare materials directly let alone understand the repercussions of selecting materials for use in different parts of a building or of sourcing them from across the world Showcasing the latest thought leadership from subject experts across the industry this primer sets out the various considerations and parameters for specifying a particular material It empowers architects with the knowledge of which materials are available how best to use them and what their future holds as the industry continues to innovate Each chapter will be devoted to a single material and will consider environmental impacts holistically looking at health and biodiversity impacts among other issues Featuring Chapters written by subject experts including Duncan Baker Brown Carol Costello Graham Coult Barbara Jones Rowland Keable Bruce Martin Michael Stacey and Oliver Wilton Mainstream and burgeoning materials including aluminium bamboo brick concrete cork hemp mycelium plastics steel stone and timber Diagrams graphics and illustrated exemplars

A History of the Hemp Industry in Kentucky James F. Hopkins, 2021-10-21 It is hard to believe that at one time burley tobacco was not the chief cash crop in Kentucky Yet for more than half a century hemp dominated the state's agricultural production James Hopkins surveys the hemp industry in Kentucky from its beginning through its complete demise at the end of World War II describing the processes of seeding and harvesting the plant and marketing manufactured goods made of the fiber With debate presently raging over the legalization of industrial hemp it is essential that an accurate portrait of this controversial resource be available Although originally published in 1951 Hopkins's work remains remarkably current as hemp manufacturing today is little changed from the practices the author describes This edition includes an updated bibliography of recent publications concerning the scientific economic and political facets of industrial hemp
