

Case Study: Starting Right Corporation

More than 100,000 people are estimated to be in the United States without official status. The number of unauthorized immigrants is growing rapidly, and the impact on the economy is significant. The federal government has taken steps to address the issue, but more action is needed to protect the rights of these individuals and to ensure the integrity of the immigration system.

These data are a very specific, comprehensive representation of the results of the analysis and may be considered as a reference. For a more detailed view of the results, the reader is referred to the Appendix. The results are presented in the Appendix in the form of a table. The table is divided into two main sections: the first section presents the results of the analysis of the data collected in the first year of the study, and the second section presents the results of the analysis of the data collected in the second year of the study.
