EXCERPT FROM THE BOOK One running theme seen in various episodes of Season 4 is the process of trying to save face in the media. Nan Flanagan, in charge of PR for the AVL, must fix the mess that vampire Russell Edgington caused when he obliterated a human on live television. Nan and Bill Compton constantly say Russell's name when addressing the media so that the public will associate the incident with him only and believe it to be an isolated event. Additionally, the AVL's purpose is to gain equal rights for vampires, and they know that they have to be careful.

in the media during a time when many in the public are still anti vampire Lastly civil rights is a theme that was introduced at the inception of True Blood and has been streaming through ever since When the vampires revealed themselves during The Great Awakening it is clear the parallel between their cause and gay rights is stressed when the show uses the phrase out of the coffin The plight of the American Vampire League looking for a constitutional amendment supporting the rights of vampires also suggests a metaphor for any minority group who has fought for equal rights Comically the parallel is shown in Season 2 when the Fellowship of the Sun a conservative religious group takes direct aim at vampires

Time in Television Narrative

Melissa Ames,2012-08 This collection analyzes twenty first century American television programs that rely upon temporal and narrative experimentation These shows play with time slowing it down to unfold the narrative through time retardation and compression They disrupt the chronological flow of time itself using flashbacks and insisting that viewers be able to situate themselves in both the present and the past narrative threads Although temporal play has existed on the small screen prior to the new millennium never before has narrative time been so freely adapted in mainstream television The essayists offer explanations for not only the frequency of time play in contemporary programming but the implications of its sometimes disorienting presence Drawing upon the fields of cultural studies television scholarship and literary studies as well as overarching theories concerning postmodernity and narratology Time in Television Narrative offers some critical suggestions The increasing number of television programs concerned with time may stem from any and all of the following recent scientific approaches to quantum physics and temporality new conceptions of history and posthistory or trends in late capitalistic production and consumption in the new culture of instantaneity or in the recent trauma culture amplified after the September 11 attacks In short these televisual time experiments may very well be an aesthetic response to the climate from which they derive These essays analyze both ends of this continuum and also attend to another crucial variable the television viewer watching this new temporal play
