The Menopause Manual English Edition:

The Menopause Manual W.H. Utian, 2012-12-06 Years of involvement firsthand experience and research at the Menopause Clinic of the Groote Schuur Hospital Cape Town exist as the background to this book The Clinic itself however as one of the first in the world to be established if not the first has a story and a lesson of its own to offer and is therefore deserving of a brief description as the preface to the book In 1967 shortly after Christiaan Barnard had completed the historical first human heart transplant at the Groote Schuur Hospital I happened to be in West Berlin and was invited to visit a major international pharmaceutical firm A new female hormone was mentioned and thereby started my interest in the subject Upon my return to Cape Town I spent many hours in the large medical school library and completely surveyed the menopause literature to 1967 I was stunned by its general inadequacy and was bitten by a challenge to clarify what menopause really was and to define the proper place of hormone replacement therapy

Handbook of Food Processing Theodoros Varzakas,Constantina Tzia,2015-10-22 Packed with case studies and problem calculations Handbook of Food Processing Food Safety Quality and Manufacturing Processes presents the information necessary to design food processing operations and describes the equipment needed to carry them out in detail It covers the most common and new food manufacturing processes while addressing rele The French Invention of Menopause and the Medicalisation of Women's Ageing Alison M. Downham Moore,2022-10-06 Doctors writing about menopause in France vastly outnumbered those in other cultures throughout the entire nineteenth century The concept of menopause was invented by French male medical students in the aftermath of the French Revolution becoming an important pedagogic topic and a common theme of doctors professional identities in postrevolutionary biomedicine Older women were identified as an important patient cohort for the expanding medicalisation of French society and were advised to entrust themselves to the hygienic care of doctors in managing the whole era of life from around and after the final cessation of menses However menopause owed much of its conceptual weft to earlier themes of women as the sicker sex of vitalist crisis of the vapours and of astrological climacteric years This is the first comprehensive study of the origins of the medical concept of menopause richly contextualising its role in nineteenth century French medicine and revealing the complex threads of meaning that informed its invention It tells a complex story of how women s ageing featured in the demographic revolution in modern science in the denigration of folk medicine in the unique French field of hygiene and in the fixation on women in the emergence of modern psychiatry It reveals the nineteenth century French origins of the still current medical and alternative health approaches to women's ageing as something to be managed through gynaecological surgery hormonal replacement and lifestyle intervention
