G. Frantz, Katharina

Rennhak, 2009-12-03 Female novelists have always invested as much narrative energy in constructing their male characters heroes and villains as in envisioning their female protagonists but this fact has received very little scholarly attention to date In Women Constructing Men scholars from Australia Canada Germany Great Britain and the United States begin to sketch the outline of a new literary history of women writing men in the English speaking world from the eighteenth century until today By rediscovering forgotten texts rereading novels by high canonical female authors refocusing the interest in well known novels and analyzing contemporary narrative constructions of masculinity the contributing scholars demonstrate that female authors create male characters every bit as complex as their male counterparts Using a variety of theoretical models and coming to an equal variety of conclusions the essays collected in Women Constructing Men skilfully demonstrate that the topic of female authored masculinities not only allows scholars to re read and re discover almost every novel ever written by a woman writer but also triggers reflections on a host of theoretical questions of gender and genre In re examining these male characters across literary history these articles extend the feminist question of Who has the authority to create a female character to Who has the authority to create any character Publishers' Circular and Booksellers' Record of British and Foreign Literature, 1900 The Publishers' Circular and Booksellers' Record of British and Foreign Literature, 1901

The Publishers' Circular and Booksellers' Record, 1913 TLA Film and Video Guide David Bleiler, 1999 Detailed indexes by star director genre country of origin and theme Lavishly illustrated with over 450 photos Comprehensive selection of international cinema from over 50 countries Over 9 000 films reviewed Up to date information on video availability and pricing Appendices with award listings TLA Bests and recommended films Two Trees G. J. Greenhough, 2013-05-01 John Brownleader a Black Country soldier is injured outside Arras in 1918 and rescued by a German Following capture John finishes the war in a Berlin prisoner of war camp He realises that the enemy has saved his life even though he is in an appalling physical and psychological condition On his return home his family is forced to re assess their own interpretations of the enemy and the traumatic impact of war In poor health John asks his girlfriend Ada to marry him and enlists her help to write secret letters to his German rescuer The consequences of their actions are explored in the closing stages of the novel when John s divided family is obliged to meet the enemy This is a story about a small group of characters of different ages set against the very difficult circumstances and actual events of 1918 and 1919 The two youngest members of the Brownleader family Hannah and George see the unfolding situations in a very different way to their parents elder siblings and the other adults Hannah is a pivotal character and her greatest wish is for someone to read her a story from her favourite Wonder Tales Two Trees contains elements of affection laughter courage antagonism and personal challenge as well as an examination of individual motivation empathy and family rivalry It is a story about the human spirit and how a bond between two enemy soldiers is created amongst the carnage and mayhem of the Western Front which nobody at home can really understand The book will appeal to fans of historical and war fiction Notes and Queries ,1894 Reedy's Mirror ,1917
