Gazendam, René Jorna, R.S. Cijssouw, 2012-12-06 Organizational Semiotics occupies an important niche in the research community of human communication and information systems It opens up new ways of understanding the functioning of information and information resources in organised behaviour In recent years a number of workshops and conferences have provided researchers and practitioners opportunities to discuss their theories methods and practices and to assess the benefits and potential of this approach Literature in this field is much in demand but still difficult to find so we are pleased to offer a third volume in the miniseries of Studies in Organizational Semiotics This book is based on the papers and discussions of the fifth workshop on Organizational Semiotics held in Delft June 13 15 2002 hosted by Groningen University and Delft Technical University in the Netherlands The topic of this workshop was the dynamics and change in organizations The chapters in this book reflect recent developments in theory and applications and demonstrate the significance of Organizational Semiotics to information systems human communication and coordination organizational analysis and modelling In particular it provides a framework that accommodates both the technical and social aspects of information systems The mini series presents the frontier of the research in this area and shows how the theory and techniques enhance the quality of work on information systems

Applied Data Analysis and Modeling for Energy Engineers and Scientists T. Agami Reddy, 2011-08-09 Applied Data Analysis and Modeling for Energy Engineers and Scientists fills an identified gap in engineering and science education and practice for both students and practitioners It demonstrates how to apply concepts and methods learned in disparate courses such as mathematical modeling probability statistics experimental design regression model building optimization risk analysis and decision making to actual engineering processes and systems The text provides a formal structure that offers a basic broad and unified perspective while imparting the knowledge skills and confidence to work in data analysis and modeling This volume uses numerous solved examples published case studies from the author's own research and well conceived problems in order to enhance comprehension levels among readers and their understanding of the processes along with the tools

Theory and

Implementation of Economic Models for Sustainable Development J.C. van den Bergh, M.W. Hofkes, 2013-03-09 There is widespread concern for long term environmental issues in relation to economic processes and developments Among the concerned scientists are economists who have taken up the challenge to apply economic insights and tools for the study of long term environment economy interactions and to give the concept of sustainable development economic hands and feet This book presents a pluralistic perspective on efforts problems and successes in this area This collection of papers was originally prepared for an international symposium titled Economic Modelling of Sustainable Development Between Theory and Practice which was hosted by the Vrije Universiteit in Amsterdam on December 20th 1996 The main motivation for this symposium was that the usefulness of the concept of sustainable development for theoretical and applied modelling is still being debated growth theorists resource economists ecological economists policy makers and many others are trying to deal with the concept in various and sometimes conflicting ways The aim of the symposium was to bring together different theoretical and implementational perspectives on modelling for sustainable development We hope that this volume will inform a wide audience about the perspectives and progress in this important area of research as well as stimulate further research notably on applied modelling and practical methods for the analysis of sustainable development at various spatial scales The papers have in due course been revised several times based on comments made by discussants referees and the editors
