Increasingly academics are called upon to demonstrate the value of linguistics and explain their research to the wider public In support of this agenda Communicating Linguistics Language Community and Public Engagement provides an overview of the wide range of public engagement activities currently being undertaken in linguistics as well as practically focused advice aimed at helping linguists to do public engagement well From podcasts to popular writing from competitions to consultancy from language creation to community projects there are many ways in which linguists can share their research with the public Bringing together insights from leading linguists working in academia as well as non university professions this unique collection Provides a forum for the discussion of challenges and opportunities of public engagement in linguistics in order to shape best practice Documents best practice through a summary of some of the many excellent public engagement projects currently taking place internationally Celebrates the long tradition of public engagement in linguistics a discipline which is often misunderstood despite its direct and fundamental importance to everyday life Breaking down long standing divisions between universities and the wider community this book will be of significant value to academics in linguistics but also teachers policy makers and anyone interested in better understanding the nature and use of language in society Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license Toledo City Journal, 1924 Naming the World Andrew Cowell, 2018-11-13 Naming the World examines language shift among the Northern Arapaho of the Wind River Reservation Wyoming and the community s diverse responses as it seeks social continuity Andrew Cowell argues that rather than a single Arapaho culture we find five distinctive communities of practice on the reservation each with differing perspectives on social and more than human power and the human relationships that enact power As the Arapaho people resist Euro American assimilation or domination the Arapaho language and the idea that the language is sacred are key rallying points but also key points of contestation Cowell finds that while many at Wind River see the language as crucial for maintaining access to more than human power others primarily view the language in terms of peer oriented identities as Arapaho Indian or non White These different views lead to quite different language usage and attitudes in relation to place naming personal naming cultural metaphors new word formation and the understudied practice of folk etymology Cowell presents data from conversations and other natural discourse to show the diversity of everyday speech and attitudes and he links these data to broader debates at Wind River and globally about the future organization of indigenous societies and the nature of Arapaho and indigenous identity
