from anthropology and archaeology provide innovative and differentiated answers to these questions. However, for all contributions, there are some common basic assumptions. One of these concerns the understanding that it is rarely the value of the material itself that matters for high valuation, but rather the appreciation of the assumed or constructed origin of certain objects or their connection with certain social structures. A second of these shared insights addresses the ubiquity of phenomena of value in things. There is no society without valued objects. As a rule, valuation is something negotiated or even disputed. Value arises through social action, whereby it is always necessary to ask anew which actors are interested in the value of certain objects or in their appreciation. This also works the other way round: Who are those actors who question corresponding objective values and why?

The Cambridge Critical Guide to Latin Literature Roy Gibson, Christopher Whitton, 2024-01-18. The Cambridge Critical Guide to Latin Literature offers a critical overview of work on Latin literature. Where are we? How did we get here? Where to next? Fifteen commissioned chapters, along with an extensive introduction and Mary Beard's postscript, approach these questions from a range of angles. They aim not to codify the field, but to give snapshots of the discipline from different perspectives and to offer provocations for future development. The Critical Guide aims to stimulate reflection on how we engage with Latin literature. Texts, tools and territories are the three areas of focus. The Guide situates the study of classical Latin literature within its global context, from late antiquity to Neo-Latin, moving away from an exclusive focus on the pre-200 CE corpus. It recalibrates links with adjoining disciplines: history, philosophy, material culture, linguistics, political thought. Greek and Latin takes a fresh look at key tools, editing, reception, intertextuality, theory.

Aesthetic Experiences and Classical Antiquity Jonas Grethlein, 2017-11-02. In this bold book, Jonas Grethlein proposes a new dialogue between the fields of Classics and aesthetics. Ancient material, he argues, has the capacity to challenge and re-orientate current debates. Comparisons with modern art and literature help to balance the historicism of classical scholarship with transcultural theoretical critique. Grethlein discusses ancient narratives and pictures in order to explore the nature of aesthetic experience While our responses to both narratives and pictures are vicarious the as if on which they are premised is specifically shaped by the form of the representation Form emerges as a key to how narratives and pictures constitute an important means of engaging with experience Combining theoretical reflections with close readings this book will appeal to art historians as well as to textual scholars Pindar, Song, and Space Richard Neer, Leslie Kurke, 2019-11-05 A groundbreaking study of the interaction of poetry performance and the built environment in ancient Greece Winner of the PROSE Award for Best Book in Classics by the Association of American Publishers In this volume Richard Neer and Leslie Kurke develop a new integrated approach to classical Greece a lyric archaeology that combines literary and art historical analysis with archaeological and epigraphic materials At the heart of the book is the great poet Pindar of Thebes best known for his magnificent odes in honor of victors at the Olympic Games and other competitions Unlike the quintessentially personal genre of modern lyric these poems were destined for public performance by choruses of dancing men Neer and Kurke go further to show that they were also site specific as the dancers moved through the space of a city or a sanctuary their song would refer to local monuments and landmarks Part of Pindar's brief they argue was to weave words and bodies into elaborate tapestries of myth and geography and in so doing to re imagine the very fabric of the city state Pindar's poems in short were tools for making sense of space Recent scholarship has tended to isolate poetry art and archaeology But Neer and Kurke show that these distinctions are artificial Poems statues bronzes tombs boundary stones roadways beacons and buildings worked together as a suite of technologies for organizing landscapes cityscapes and territories Studying these technologies in tandem reveals the procedures and criteria by which the Greeks understood relations of nearness and distance here and there and how these ways of inhabiting space were essentially political Rooted in close readings of individual poems buildings and works of art Pindar Song and Space ranges from Athens to Libya Sicily to Rhodes to provide a revelatory new understanding of the world the Greeks built and a new model for studying the ancient world Military Departures, Homecomings and Death in Classical Athens Owen Rees, 2022-01-13 This volume sheds new light on the experience of ancient Greek warfare by identifying and examining three fundamental transitions undergone by the classical Athenian hoplite as a result of his military service his departure to war his homecoming from war having survived and his homecoming from war having died As a conscript a man regularly called upon by his city state to serve in the battle lines and perform his citizen duty the most common military experience of the hoplite was one of transition he was departing to or returning from war on a regular basis especially during extended periods of conflict Scholarship has focused primarily on the experience of the hoplite after his return with a special emphasis on his susceptibility to Post Traumatic Stress Disorder PTSD but the moments of transition themselves have yet to be explored in detail Taking each in turn Owen Rees examines the transitions from two sides from within the domestic environment as a member of an oikos and from within the military environment as a member of the army This analysis presents a new template for each and effectively maps the experience of the hoplite as he moves between his domestic and military duties This allows us to reconstruct the effects of war more fully and to identify moments with the potential for a traumatic impact on the individual

Excavating Women Carina Oliveira Prestes,2025-06-17 Modern readers often look at the past with distorted presuppositions about women s participation in early Christianity However women had a prominent role in society and in religious leadership in the Greco Roman world Excavating Women investigates the leadership of women in Christian churches during the first six centuries of the common era through a study of the archaeological remains Carina Prestes surveys the role of women in Greco Roman society highlighting their importance for Greek and Roman cults and examining funerary remains of the first centuries of the common era to better understand the role of women in Christian communities The archaeological evidence is placed in historical and sociocultural context to avoid characteristic biases of certain media and to allow a nuanced perspective of the history Excavating Women also investigates some of the early Christian mosaics in their contexts based on the study of semiotics the hierarchy of spaces and biblical passages portrayed in them These sources reveal a strong participation of women in the clerical leadership of early Christianity in agreement with the funerary remains Excavating Women impacts the perception of women today not only in Christian circles but also in society at large

Legacies of Ancient Greece in Contemporary Perspectives Thomas M. F. Gerry,2022-04-20 Legacies of Ancient Greece in Contemporary Perspectives provides readers with opportunities to reconnect with the origins of thought in an astonishingly wide variety of areas politics economics art spirituality gender relations medicine literature philosophy music and so on As the chapters in the book show Classical Greek thought still informs much of contemporary culture There are countless books and articles that deal with ancient Greece historically and a similar number that focus on Greece as a contemporary travel destination There is both a lot of interest in Greece as a place now and in Greece s history and culture which formed the early origins of much of Western civilisation The distinctive attraction of Legacies of Ancient Greece in Contemporary Perspectives is that it brings together by means of fascinating examples the two areas of interest Greece s past in relation to its and our present In addition to the general interest factor the book suggests questions for re examination the individual chapters provide abundant original research on their subjects and in most cases offer critiques on the assumptions about and the interpretations of Greece's ancient and contemporary cultural practices. These challenges themselves stimulate far reaching thought and discussion a feature highly attractive to readers and students wishing to develop a more in depth understanding of the legacies of ancient Greece

Politics in the Monuments of Pompey the Great and Julius Caesar Eleonora Zampieri, 2022-10-21 This book explores the diachronic development of the ideological content of Pompey and Caesar's monuments in Rome emphasising the importance of the late Republican period as a precursor to imperial propaganda through architecture. In the final years of the Roman Republic individuals such as Pompey the Great and Julius Caesar exploited the communicative power of architecture. The former promoted the first and largest stone theatre in Rome the latter started comprehensive town planning projects that arguably verged on the utopian. Yet the study of the politics expressed by these monuments and how complex late Republican politics shaped the monuments themselves has attracted less attention than that of subsequent imperial architecture. Zampieri addresses this imbalance exploring the ideological meaning of late Republican monuments and highlighting that monuments were fluid adaptable entities even in the lifespan of a single individual. Accompanied by detailed maps and images this volume shows how late Republican architecture should be considered an important source for understanding politics of this period. Politics in the Monuments of Pompey the Great and Julius Caesar will be of use to anyone working on the politics and social world of the late Roman Republic and on Roman architecture and patronage

Being 'in Christ' in the Letters of Paul Teresa Morgan, 2020-11-05 In this study Teresa Morgan offers a radically new interpretation of in Christ and related expressions in the undisputed letters of Paul. Starting from a reassessment of Deissmann's Die neutestamentliche Formel in Christo Jesu she argues that Deissmann's philology is flawed the Schweitzerian concept of participation in Christ which is indebted to it is problematic and many contemporary accounts of participation are better understood in other terms. Through close readings of each letter Teresa Morgan shows how Paul uses en Christo language instrumentally to speak of what God has done through Christ by Christ's death and encheiristically to speak of the life the faithful now live in Christ's hands in Christ's power under his authority under his protection and in his care. This creative use of en Christo language forms part of and connects Paul's soteriology eschatology and Christology shaping his narrative of God's intervention in the world the relationship between God Christ and the faithful the lordship and work of Christ between the resurrection and the parousia and God's ultimate triumph. This narrative is closely connected with Paul's ecclesiology and ethics where life in Christ's hands is envisaged as the this worldly dimension of the new creation an aspect of eternal life already active in the present time. In Christ's hands the faithful not least Paul himself live a new life in communities with a distinctive structure and dynamic. In Christ's hands they hope to remain in right standing with God and serve God until Christ's return
