The Known World of Broadcast News Stanley Baran, 2003-09-02 Radio and television news are expanding everywhere often at the expense of print media. Developments in global communications in theory at least have made the world smaller. An event anywhere can theoretically be reported anywhere else on radio within minutes on television within hours. But theory and practice are often far apart. Broadcast News has become a global business almost like the music industry with its own Top 10 and an inevitable streamlining of taste. A few major organisations control the newsflow. Syndicators guarantee that more and more of us get to see or hear the same stories. This is typified by the growth of independent or local news stations and cable suppliers competing mercilessly with the traditional giants of the news airwaves the US Networks the BBC and other Public Service Broadcasters etc. But does this development satisfy the democratic demands of enlightened society and of informed citizens? This book presents a catalogue of worries but also some rays of hope. It looks in detail at news broadcasters on both sides of the Atlantic. It also covers the international broadcasting scene as well as third world countries and recent developments in Glasnost's USSR. A major empirical study of what we get from broadcast news taking the case of the USA Britain and Sweden is also presented. Models useful for understanding both the present and the future are suggested.

Bad News Mark Pack, 2020-03-12 Bad News is a popular guide that helps you make sense of the news wherever it appears print broadcast or online. Peppered with examples from around the world the book turns a serious subject into an enjoyable read. You will learn as you are entertained. Readers will discover all the tricks and techniques required to work out whether to trust a story based on an anonymous source when big numbers are really small and when small numbers are really big why you should ignore what appears behind someone on the TV and much more. You'll even learn why you should always read stories in the Daily Mail backwards and when correlation is causation. But readers will also learn how ill suited the news is to understanding and interpreting the modern world even when it comes from honest journalists working for reputable outlets. The news has a role but readers will learn how to ensure they don't confuse that with understanding the world.

Elvis Puffs Out Georgia Dunn, 2020-10-06 This just in your favorite purr nalist's are back and reporting on all of the most pressing cat issues in this third collection of Breaking Cat News comics for middle grade readers. Anchor cat Lupin and his faithful field reporters Elvis and Puck are as cute and funny as ever in Elvis Puffs Out. There's no shortage of news to cover this time around. In the wake of a winter snowstorm the team tries their hand at meteorology with mixed results. Man and Woman nurse a stranded kitten back to health. And the pessimistic straight laced Elvis demonstrates that even he has a soft side. The fun continues in the More to Explore section with lessons on wooden spoon puppet theaters the basics of reporting your own news stories and as always charming paper dolls to craft.
