The Impact of Overbuilding on People and the Planet David A. Ness, 2019-02-01 This book challenges the status quo where profligate building and urban development is described as green and low carbon exposing a number of elephants in the big green room that severely impact upon society and the environment It questions the ethics equity and sustainability of continued growth of the building stock in industrialized contexts amid diminishing demand whilst the developing world is deprived of basic resources and infrastructure Even a circular built environment may not go far enough when dramatic reduction in consumption of resources is required to meet sufficient service levels More socio economic value may be derived from built resources by their stewardship adaptation reuse and equitable sharing while ameliorating the adverse impacts of overconsumption By taking a wider perspective of a sustainable built environment the text illustrated by case studies from the Olympics and nine countries reframes the policy debate and reforms current approaches through a new theory and manifesto It will appeal to policy makers architects urban designers educators students and green building practitioners

Making Connections Marilyn Naidoo, 2021-11-19 Because of the disconnect within the curriculum and the lack of contextual relevance African theological education is still searching for appropriate approaches to ministerial training Integrative theological education refers to systematic attempts to connect major learning experiences appropriate to the education and formation of ministers It is seen as a solution to connect and transform ministry training The main premise of this book is that the key to enhancing theological education is the intentional integration of knowing with being and doing of theory with practice and of theology with life and ministry In this way all aspects of student learning are brought together holistically highlighting an educational strategy that is concerned with connections in human experience thereby supporting student learning Making Connections offers the opportunity to consider integration as an appropriate pedagogical approach to create the correct balance in making education more meaningful and fulfilling for the African revealing humanising education grounded in African philosophy and worldview

Peacekeeping in Africa Marco Jowell, 2018-02-21 In recent decades African states have developed an impressive infrastructure for training their peacekeepers In addition peacekeeping peacebuilding and associated areas of conflict resolution have become significant areas of employment Marco Jowell has spent a decade working in peacekeeping training in East Africa initially as one of the foreign Technical Advisers at the Peace Support Operations PSO training centre in Kenya the International Peace Support Training Centre IPSTC and subsequently as a strategic adviser to the Rwanda Peace Academy Using first hand experience he considers how military forces from a variety of African states with great differences in history language and political systems and with militaries with different cultures and capabilities can conduct complicated multinational peacekeeping operations He shows how regional peacekeeping training centres provide an environment for African elites predominately military to interact with each other through shared training and experiences This process of interaction or socialisation improves skills but also encourages cohesion so that future African led missions will be managed by well trained officers who are comfortable and willing to work within a regional or Pan African framework Jowell shows that part of the aim of peacekeeping training centres is to foster a Pan African outward looking ideology or disposition as well as improving technical ability This book will be essential reading for all involved with African military and security studies and analysts of peacekeeping training and operations

Sustainable Energy for All David Ockwell, Rob Byrne, 2016-08-19 Despite decades of effort and billions of dollars spent two thirds of people in sub Saharan Africa still lack access to electricity a vital pre cursor to economic development and poverty reduction Ambitious international policy commitments seek to address this but scholarship has failed to keep pace with policy ambitions lacking both the empirical basis and the theoretical perspective to inform such transformative policy aims Sustainable Energy for All aims to fill this gap Through detailed historical analysis of the Kenyan solar PV market the book demonstrates the value of a new theoretical perspective based on Socio Technical Innovation System Building Importantly the book goes beyond a purely academic critique to detail exactly how a Socio Technical Innovation System Building approach might be operationalized in practice facilitating both a detailed plan for future comparative research as well as a clear agenda for policy and practice Chapters 1 and 6 of this book are freely available as downloadable Open Access PDFs at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution CC BY 4.0 license

Multinational Military Forces In The Global South: Isodependence And The Quest For Autonomy Matías Ferreyra, 2023-06-23 This book examines multinational military forces in the Global South and their connections with the global diffusion phenomenon of multinational military cooperation In the 21st century three international military organizations with standing headquarters in the Global South have emerged in the field of military operations These are the Southern Cross Peace Force in Latin America the Africa Standby Force in Africa and the Peninsula Shield Force in the structures of the Gulf Cooperation Council countries Yet the scholarly literature on multinational operations has given little attention to these organizations and is mostly focused on the Western hemisphere particularly on European military organizations So far military organizations led by peripheral countries in the Global South have been neglected in systematic and comparative analyses This book seeks to address this gap and use a novel comparative framework to examine inter organizational differences and similarities in these three important cases It aims to provide a gateway for theoretical growth now and for future studies in the Global South and elsewhere The book demonstrates that in a global field of military management dominated by standards and resources from central countries the phenomena of organizational isomorphism and external dependence tend to interweave in the formation of multinational forces in the Global South A common condition is analyzed through case studies isodependence From historical critical and postcolonial studies the book explores how the epistemic autonomy to conduct such force models in the peripheries is constrained in the context of a security geoculture whereby specific attributions knowledge and security functions have been unevenly distributed in the modern world system This book will be of great interest to researchers of military studies security studies sociology and conflict studies and IR in general

From Reversal of Fortune to Economic Resurgence Banji Oyelaran-Oyeyinka, Oyebanke Abejirin, 2024-11-05 This book examines Nigeria Africa s largest economy and most populous

country and Asia in comparative development and sectoral perspectives We traced the divergent growth in wealth between the two regions It takes a novel approach of matching key growth sectors across five selected Asian countries and Nigeria in a cross regional context We found that state and institutional capabilities underlying the generation and diffusion of industrial and technological knowledge in Asia distinguished it from Africa We employ quantitative and qualitative methods including case studies and statistical econometric methods to analyze factors that separate the sample countries that made rapid economic progress in catching up and those that tend to be stagnating and falling behind Progress made by Asian countries over the last five decades was due in large part to their pursuit of industrialization technological acquisition underpinned by leadership good governance and policies in the right institutional contexts The four Asian countries compared with Nigeria are Indonesia Malaysia South Korea Vietnam and Bangladesh There was not one grand development formula however the strategy broadly consisted of industrial vertical diversification as well as horizontal diversification in agriculture Building industrial capabilities that enable export competitiveness was critical Again while leadership is not usually included in factors of growth the book devotes a chapter to Leadership and Industrialization and another to State Capacity Industrialization and Economic Growth African countries on the contrary took the low road in exporting minerals and raw agricultural commodities with little value addition in the process Africa experienced a reversal of fortune The African condition is manifestly a Reversal of Fortune because in the 1950s they were ahead of or equal to Asia in per capita income as well as in other development metrics We carried out empirical measurement of Reversal of Fortune manifested in economic social technological and industrial conditions by analyzing the disparities in development metrics particularly the levels and rates of growth of national incomes industrialization rates and Human Development Index HDI The differences are stark
