German as Contact Zone Russell West-Pavlov, 2019-09-09 This book suggests that linguistic translation is one minute province of an immense process of creative activity that constitutes the world as an ongoing dynamism of unceasing transformation Building upon the speculative quantum gravity theory which provides a narrative of the push pull dynamics of transformative translation from the very smallest scales of reality to the very greatest this book argues that the so called translative turn of the 1990s was correct in positing translation as a paradigmatic concept of transformation More radically the book stages a provocative provincialization of linguistic translation so that literary translation in particular is shown to display a remarkable awareness of its own participation in a larger creative contact zone As a result the German language literary translations in and out of German and the German language classroom can be understood respectively as quantum contact zones Russell West Pavlov is Professor of Anglophone Literatures at the University of Tbingen and Research Associate at the University of Pretoria

Language and Decoloniality in Higher Education Zannie Bock, Christopher Stroud, 2021-05-20 Language and Decoloniality in Higher Education brings together a collection of diverse papers that address from various angles the issue of decoloniality language and transformation in higher education It reflects the authors cumulative years of experience as educators in higher education in different southern contexts Distilled as case studies the authors use a range of decolonial lenses to reflect on questions of knowledge language and learning and to build a reflexive praxis of decoloniality through multilingualism Besides a number of decolonial perspectives which readers will be familiar with this volume also explores a conceptual framework Linguistic Citizenship developed over the past two decades by scholars in southern Africa In this collection Linguistic Citizenship is used as a lens to think beyond the inherited colonial matrices of language which have shaped this region and many other southern contexts for centuries and to re imagine multilingualism and semiotics more broadly as a transformative resource in the broader project of social justice Although each chapter has firm roots in the South African context these studies have much to offer others in their quest for better worlds Of particular interest to global scholars are the authors recounts of how they have grappled with leveraging the country's multilingual resources in the project of promoting academic access and success in the face of historical hierarchies of language and social power

Achieving Equity and Quality in Higher Education Mahsood Shah, Jade McKay, 2018-07-05 Across the world higher education is witnessing exponential growth in both student participation and types of educational providers One key phenomenon of this growth is an increase in student diversity governments are widening access to higher education for students from traditionally underrepresented groups However this raises questions about whether this rapid growth may in face compromise academic quality This book presents case studies of how higher education institutions in diverse countries are maintaining academic excellence while increasing the access and participation of students from historically underrepresented backgrounds Including case studies spanning four continents the authors and editors examine whether increasing widening participation positively impacts upon academic quality This volume will be of interest and value to students and scholars of global higher education representation and participation in education and quality in higher education South African urban

imaginaries: cases from Johannesburg Richard Ballard, Sandiswa Mapukata, 2022-06-01 How do government officials elected politicians powerful economic actors and ordinary people think and talk about the urban geography of South Africa How do they describe and represent change that is happening in cities towns and villages Do they consider these changes to be good or bad How do they think such places should change What do they do to try to bring about the changes they desire Competing answers to these questions have been at the centre of South Africa s urban development Through the 19th and 20th centuries white minority governments straddled quite contradictory imaginaries about who could build lives for themselves in urban areas and on what terms Ordinary people held their own urban imaginaries that were quite different to those of white minority governments and were core to the fight for democracy In the democratic era a range of official and popular imaginaries offer diverse visions on how South Africans should be transformed In an earlier collection produced under the GCRO Spatial Imaginaries project we explored the sometimes contradictory nature of post apartheid urban visions with for example with some promoting the creation of new urban settlements on greenfield sites and others attempting to densify and diversify long urbanised spaces Research Report 13 South African urban imaginaries Cases from Johannesburg is a second edited collection under the Spatial Imaginaries project and it uses a series of cases from Johannesburg that illustrate the interactions between urban imaginaries and the material city These cases include the depiction of central business districts in film as spaces of aspiration the way in which the imaginaries of developers in Hillbrow were shaped by the lives of those living there the imaginaries of Alexandra Renewal Project practitioners the way in which residents of Brixton understand diversity and the construction of two new bridges across the M1 to better connect Sandton and Alexandra

Leadership and Management Strategies for Creating Agile Universities Connolly, Thomas M., Farrier, Stephen, 2021-12-03 The global higher education sector has changed dramatically as universities continue to face unprecedented challenges associated with the COVID 19 pandemic Many are struggling to navigate this crisis while maintaining high quality course delivery ensuring strong student recruitment numbers and providing clear communication to staff and students Issues have emerged at an exponential rate and coping with the pandemic has been particularly difficult for universities as they serve several functions such as being educational institutions as well as major employers Leadership and Management Strategies for Creating Agile Universities reflects on the challenges that higher education institutions have faced during the pandemic and the associated projected socio economic impact yet to be felt It also considers how different universities have addressed the challenges so as to learn what has and has not worked and speculates what future implications exist for the vision of a new higher education sector in a changing world Covering topics such as developmental leadership IT governance and lifelong learning it is ideal for policymakers industry professionals academicians researchers governors decision makers teachers and students

Making Public in a Privatized World David A. McDonald, 2016-02-15 How do we provide effective public services in a deeply neoliberal world In the wake of the widespread failure of privatisation efforts societies in the global south are increasingly seeking progressive ways of recreating the public sector With contributors ranging from cutting edge scholars to activists working in health water and energy provision and with case studies covering a broad spectrum of localities and actors Making Public in a Privatized World uncovers the radically different ways in which public services are being reshaped from the grassroots up From communities holding the state accountable for public health in rural Guatemala to waste pickers in India and decentralized solar electricity initiatives in Africa the essays in this collection offer probing insights into the complex ways in which people are building genuine alternatives to privatization while also illustrating the challenges which communities face in creating public services which are not subordinated to the logic of the market or to the monolithic state entities of the past

The Everyday Politics of Food Co-ops Celia Plender,2025-05-01 National politics has a significant impact on organizing and accessing community welfare This book engages with notions of everyday politics within two London based food co ops emerging from different political environments and ideologies It provides a careful and engaging examination of the experiences of political and economic change in Austerity Britain revealing how national politics came to punctuate everyday lives within the co ops It highlights the political resonances that practices of care aid and community organizing came to have within the food co ops at a time of rapid welfare withdrawal as well as the tensions between more radical and neoliberal imaginaries that played out within them Intellectual Disabilities in Down Syndrome from Birth and throughout Life: Assessment and Treatment Marie-Claude Potier, Roger H. Reeves, 2017-02-24 Research on the multiple aspects of cognitive impairment in Down syndrome DS from genes to behavior to treatment has made tremendous progress in the last decade The study of congenital intellectual disabilities such as DS is challenging since they originate from the earliest stages of development and both the acquisition of cognitive skills and neurodegenerative pathologies are cumulative Comorbidities such as cardiac malformations sleep apnea diabetes and dementia are frequent in the DS population as well and their increased risk provides a means of assessing early stages of these pathologies that is relevant to the general population Notably persons with DS will develop the histopathology of Alzheimer s disease formation of neuritic plaques and tangles and are at high risk for dementia something that cannot be predicted in the population at large Identification of the gene encoding the amyloid precursor protein its localization to chromosome 21 in the 90 s and realization that all persons with DS develop pathology identified this as an important piece of the amyloid cascade hypothesis in Alzheimer s disease Awareness of the potential role of people with DS in understanding progression and treatment as well as identification of genetic risk factors and also protective factors for AD is reawakening For the first time since DS was recognized major pharmaceutical companies have entered the search for ameliorative treatments and phase II clinical trials to improve learning and memory are in progress Enriched environment brain stimulation and alternative therapies are being tested while clinical assessment is improving thus increasing the chances of success for therapeutic interventions Researchers and clinicians are actively pursuing the possibility of prenatal treatments for many conditions an area with a huge potential impact for developmental disorders such as DS Our goal here is to present an overview of recent advances with an emphasis on behavioral and cognitive deficits and how these issues change through life in DS The relevance of comorbidities to the end phenotypes described and relevance of pharmacological targets and possible treatments will be considerations throughout South African Medical Journal ,1991-04 Opting Out Joanna Davidson, Dinah Hannaford, 2022-11-11 Women around the world are opting out of marriage Through nuanced ethnographic accounts of the ways that women are moving the needle on marital norms and practices Opting Out reveals the conditions that make this widespread phenomenon possible in places where marriage has long been obligatory Each chapter invites readers into the lives of particular women and the changing circumstances in which these lives unfold sometimes painfully sometimes humorously and always unexpectedly Taken together the essays in this volume prompt the following questions Why is marriage so consistently disappointing for women When the rewards of economic stability and the social status that marriage confers are troubled does marriage offer women anything compelling at all Across diverse geographic contexts in Africa Asia and Latin America this book offers sensitive and powerful portrayals of women as they escape or reshape marriage into a more rewarding arrangement Organic Acids in Diabetes Md. Shahidul Islam, 2025-10-29 This book comprehensively reviews the pivotal roles and intricate mechanisms through which organic acids contribute to the management of type 2 diabetes and its associated complications. The introductory chapters provide a foundational understanding of diabetes encompassing its pathogenesis, classification, and conventional therapeutic approaches, as well as examining the complications inherently linked to this chronic condition. The chapters discuss the sources, chemistry, digestion, absorption, metabolism, and health benefits of phenolic acid, emphasizing their roles in managing diabetes and related complications. The subsequent chapters of the book highlight the potential benefits of non-phenolic organic acids in the management of insulin resistance and type 2 diabetes, discussing their metabolic effects and potential in reducing diabetes-related complications. In conclusion, the book offers a holistic approach to diabetes management, emphasizing the significance of dietary choices and natural compounds in improving overall well-being while managing this prevalent chronic condition. This book is a valuable resource for researchers, healthcare professionals, and academicians keen on harnessing the therapeutic potential of these organic acids.

The Aging-Disability Nexus Katie Aubrecht, Christine Kelly, Carla Rice, 2020-06-01

As the global population ages, disability demographics are shifting. Societal transformation and global health inequities have changed who is likely to reach old age, who is likely to live with disability, and the relationship between aging and disability in various socio-cultural and geopolitical contexts. The Aging-Disability Nexus breaks new ground by bringing gerontology and disability studies into dialogue with each other through a variety of empirical, conceptual, and pedagogical approaches. Contributors explore the tensions that shape the way disability and aging are understood, experienced, and responded to at both individual and systemic levels while avoiding the common tendency to conflate these overlapping elements and map them onto a normative, faulty notion of the human life trajectory. This perceptive work analyzes the distinction between aging with a disability and aging into disability and reveals how multiple identities, socio-economic forces, culture, and community give form to our experiences.
