Working with indigenous knowledge Fhumulani M. Mulaudzi, Rachel T. Lebeso, 2022 The aim of the book is to assist both local and international scholars in articulating the scholarly discourse on indigenous health attitudes practices and experiences The indigenous lens that was used to generate and disseminate indigenous knowledge in this book will strengthen indigenous scholarship thus making it accessible to a wider audience In addition the information shared in this book will add value for scholars and assist them with the indigenous knowledge needed to address sustainable development goals This book is timeous and topical as the discourse on the decolonisation of the curriculum is widely debated in the higher education space The discourse on the scholarship of indigenous knowledge as the tacit local knowledge that stems from cultural practices within communities has not been well articulated in the current health science education milieu Indigenous knowledge has remained overlooked and undermined for a very long time and the information remains untapped in local communities The scholars who conducted the research on which this book is based unearthed a wealth of knowledge which was tacit in nature and translated it into implicit knowledge that can be documented and shared with other scholars globally This knowledge will assist health care scholars in benefiting from knowledge practices and cultural beliefs that will assist them in health care planning teaching evidence based practice and further research

Decolonising Schools in South Africa Pam Christie, 2020-06-07 This book explores the challenge of dismantling colonial schooling and how entangled power relations of the past have lingered in post apartheid South Africa It examines the on the ground history of colonialism from the vantage point of a small town in the Karoo region showing how patterns of possession and dispossession have played out in the municipality and schools Using the strong political and ontological critique of decoloniality theories the book demonstrates the ways in which government interventions over many years have allowed colonial relations and the construction of racialised differences to linger in new forms including unequal access to schooling Written in an accessible style the book considers how the dream of decolonial schooling might be realised from the vantage point of research on the margins This Karoo region also offers an interesting case study as the site where the world s largest radio telescope was recently located and highlights the contrasting logics of international big science and local development needs This book will be of interest to academics and scholars in the education field as well as to social geographers sociologists human geographers historians and policy makers Chapters 1 and 10 of this book are freely available as downloadable Open Access PDFs at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license

Contemporary Perspectives on Art and International Development Polly Stupples, Katerina Teaiwa, 2016-10-26 Visual artists craftspeople musicians and performers have been supported by the development community for at least twenty years yet there has been little grounded and critical research into the practices and politics of that support This new Routledge book remedies that omission and brings together varied perspectives from artists policy makers and researchers working in the Pacific Africa Latin America and Europe to explore the challenges and opportunities of supporting the arts in the development context The book offers a series of grounded analyses which cover strategies for the sustainability of arts enterprises innovative evaluation methods theoretical engagements with questions of art agency and social change artists entanglements with legal and structural frameworks processes of cultural mapping and the artist donor interface The creative economy is increasingly recognized as a driver of development and this book also investigates the contribution made by the arts to the processes of international development and considers how those processes can best be supported by development agencies Contemporary Perspectives on Art and International Development gives scholars of Development Studies Social and Cultural Geography Anthropology Cultural Policy Cultural Studies and Global Studies a contextually and thematically diverse range of insights into this emerging research field
