

Predicting Inheritance: Dihybrid Crosses

- Monohybrid crosses look at how the alleles of one gene transfer across generations
- Dihybrid crosses look at how the alleles of two genes transfer across generations
- The genetic diagrams for both types of crosses are very similar
- There are several more genotypes and phenotypes involved
- When writing the different genotypes write the two alleles for one gene, followed immediately by the two alleles for the other gene. Do not mix up the alleles from the different genes
 - If there was a gene with alleles Y and y and another gene with alleles G and g an example genotype for an individual would be YYGg

Worked example: Dihybrid genetic diagram

- Horses have a single gene for coat colour that has two alleles:
 - B, a dominant allele produces a black coat
 - b, a recessive allele produces a chestnut coat
- Horses also have single gene for eye colour
 - E, a dominant allele produces brown eyes
 - e, a recessive allele produces blue eyes
- In this example a horse which is heterozygous for both genes has been crossed with a horse that is homozygous for one gene and heterozygous for the other

Parental phenotypes: black coat, brown eyes x chestnut coat, brown eyes

Parental genotypes: BbEe

bbEe

Parental gametes: BE or Be or bE or be

bE or be
