

Hygiene

What is Hygiene?

1. Practices that promote health through personal cleanliness. People foster hygiene through activities such as bathing, performing oral care, cleaning and maintaining fingernails and toenails, and shampooing and grooming hair.
2. Hygiene also applies to the care and maintenance of devices such as eyeglasses and hearing aids to ensure continued and proper function.

What is bathing?

1. Hygiene practice in which a person uses a cleansing agent such as soap and water to remove sweat, oil, dirt, and microorganisms from the skin.
2. Bed Bath Means cleaning Patients Body from Head to toe, or Removing of dirt and Promoting Skin Care and Promote Personal hygiene

What are the purpose of bathing?

Eliminating body odor, reducing the potential for infection, Stimulating circulation of Skin, Providing a refreshed feeling, Improving self-image, to remove accumulated waste products and dirt from the skin, to observe and to detect abnormalities, to promote relaxation and comfort

NURSING GUIDELINES

17-1

Bathing Clients

- 1 Ask the client if he or she uses special soap, lotion, or other hygiene products. Determining the client's preferences individualizes care.
- 1 Wear gloves if there is any potential for direct contact with blood, drainage, or other body fluid. Gloves reduce the potential for acquiring an infection.
- 1 Keep the client covered during the bath. Covering the client demonstrates respect for modesty.
- 1 Wash cleaner areas of the body first and dirtier areas last. This reduces the spread of microorganisms.
- 1 Encourage the client to participate at whatever level is appropriate. Participation promotes independence and self-esteem.
- 1 Monitor the client's tolerance of activity. If activity becomes too strenuous, it should be discontinued and resumed later.
- 1 Inspect the body during washing for skin disorders (Table 17-3). Bathing provides an excellent opportunity for physical assessment.
- 1 Communicate with the client and use the occasion to do informal health teaching. Talking demonstrates respect for the client as a person rather than an object being washed; teaching promotes health.
- 1 Wash one part of the body at a time. Exposing only one part prevents chilling.
- 1 Place a towel under the part of the body being washed. A towel absorbs moisture.
- 1 Use firm but gentle strokes. Gentle strokes avoid friction that can damage the skin.
- 1 Wash and dry well between folds of skin. Effective washing removes debris and microorganisms from areas where they are apt to breed.
- 1 Keep the washcloth wet, but not so wet that it drips. This demonstrates concern for the client's comfort.
- 1 Wash more soiled areas, such as the anus, last. Doing so prevents transferring microorganisms to cleaner areas of the body.
- 1 Remove all soap residue. This prevents drying the skin and possible itching.
- 1 Dry the skin after it has been rinsed. Drying the skin prevents chilling.
- 1 Replace the water as it cools. Using warm water shows concern for the client's comfort.
- 1 Apply an emollient lotion to the skin after bathing. A lotion restores lubrication to the skin.

With chapters corresponding to the chapters in Linton and Matteson's Medical Surgical Practical Nursing in Canada this study guide provides a variety of questions and exercises to help you master the PN's role in Canadian medical surgical care. Review exercises include fun activities, multiple choice questions, alternate format questions, and more, all divided by level of difficulty. In the chapters on medical conditions, practical questions help you apply your knowledge directly to real world patient care. This study guide provides the review and practice you need to prepare for the REx PN or CPNRE licensure exams. Comprehensive review reflects the latest Canadian Council for Practical Nurse Regulators (CCPNR) national PN competencies including Ontario and British Columbia. Variety of exercises reinforces learning with matching, multiple choice, multiple response, labelling, diagram reading, fill in the blank, questions, case studies, and more. Consistent format in each chapter. Part I: Mastering the Basics focuses on basic knowledge and comprehension of medical surgical nursing. Part II: Putting it All Together integrates chapter content related to basic pathophysiology and basic nursing content and focuses on comprehension and application levels. Part III: Challenge Yourself: Getting Ready for PN Examinations focuses on the application or analysis levels of cognitive ability and can include case studies, nursing care plans, and nursing assessment. Questions arranged by level of difficulty move from simple recall to more difficult exercises designed to help you apply, analyze, and synthesize basic concepts. Alternate format questions include multiple response, labelling, prioritizing, ordering, and calculation questions to help you practice for the REx PN and CPNRE licensure examinations. Review questions on care for older adults focus on long term care and community based settings, asking you to apply content to real world practice. Additional review questions are provided on the Evolve website for the textbook.
