world in all its various forms as a manifestation of not just our anxieties around alien others but also our alien selves. Unsurprisingly many of the tropes these novels generated and particularly the themes they have in common have been used and adapted by vampire narratives that followed. From Nosferatu to Alien, Interstellar, Stranger Things and many others, this book examines how these narratives have evolved since the end of the nineteenth century. Bringing together texts and films from across the 19th, 20th and 21st centuries from the far reaches of outer space and the distant future, it concludes that the unexpected and the unknown are not always to be feared and that humanity does have the power to write its own future.

The Kiss of Death Andrea Kitta, 2019-10-15. Disease is a social issue, not just a medical issue. Using examples of specific legends and rumors, The Kiss of Death explores the beliefs and practices that permeate notions of contagion and contamination. Author Andrea Kitta offers new insight into the nature of vernacular conceptions of health and sickness and how medical and scientific institutions can use cultural literacy to better meet their communities' needs. Using ethnographic media and narrative analysis, this book explores the vernacular explanatory models used in decisions concerning contagion to better understand the real fears, risks, concerns, and doubts of the public. Kitta explores immigration and patient zero, zombies and vampires, Slender Man, HPV, and the kiss of death legend, as well as systematic racism, homophobia, and misogyny in North American culture to examine the nature of contagion and contamination. Conversations about health and risk cannot take place without considering positionality and intersectionality. In The Kiss of Death, Kitta isolates areas that require better communication and greater cultural sensitivity in the handling of infectious disease, public health, and other health-related disciplines and industries.

Childhood in Animation Jane Batkin, 2024-08-01. Childhood in Animation: Navigating a Secret World explores how children are viewed in animated cinema and television and examines the screen spaces that they occupy. The image of the child is often a site of conflict, one that has been captured, preserved, and recollected on screen, but what do these representations tell us about the animated child and how do they compare to their real counterparts? Is childhood simply a metaphor for innocence, or something far more complex that encompasses agency, performance, and othering? Childhood in Animation focuses on key screen characters such as DJ Norman, Lilo, the Lost Boys, Marji, Parvana, Bluey, Kirikou, Robyn, Mebh, Cartman, and Bart, amongst others, to see how they are represented within worlds of fantasy, separation, horror, politics, and satire, as well as viewing childhood itself through a philosophical, sociological, and global lens. Ultimately, this book navigates the rabbit hole of the elsewhere to reveal the secret space of childhood where anything and everything is possible. This volume will be of great interest to scholars and students of animation, childhood studies, film and television studies, and psychology and sociology.

Monstrous Ontologies: Politics Ethics Materiality Caterina Nirta,Andrea Pavoni,2021-06-01 While the presence of monsters in popular culture is ever increasing their use as an explicit or implicit category to frame stigmatise and demonise the other is seemingly on the rise At the same time academic interest for monsters is ever growing Usually monstrosity is understood as a category that emerges to signal a transgression to a given order this approach has led to the demystification of the insidious characterisations of the racial sexual physical other as monstrous While this effort has been necessary its collateral effects have reduced the monstrous to a mere socio cultural construction of the other a dialectical framing that de facto deprives monstrosity from any reality Monstrous Ontologies Politics Ethics Materiality proffers the necessity of challenging these monstrous otherings and their perverse socio political effects whilst also asserting that the monstrous is not simply an epistemological construct but that it has an ontological reality There is a profound difference between monsters and monstrosity While the former is an often sterile political and social simplification the end product of rhetorical and biopolitical apparatuses the latter may be understood as a dimension that nurtures the un definable that is that shows the limits of these apparatuses by embodying their material excess not a cultural frame but the limit to the very mechanism of framing The monstrous expresses the combining hybridising becoming and creative potential of socio natural life albeit colouring this powerful vitalism with the dark hue of a fearful disgusting and ultimately indigestible reality that cannot simply be embraced with multicultural naivety As such it forces us towards radically changing not the categories but the very mechanisms of categorisation through which reality is framed and acted upon Here lies the profound ethical dimension that monstrosity forces us to acknowledge here lies its profoundly political potential one that cannot be unfolded by merely deconstructing monstrosity and rather requires to engage with its uncomfortable appalling and revealing materiality This book will appeal to postgraduate students PostDocs and academics alike in the fields of philosophy critical theory humanities sociology and social theory criminology human geography and critical legal theory
