Drawing New Color Lines Monica Chiu, 2014-11-01 The global circulation of comics manga and other such visual mediums between North America and Asia produces transnational meanings no longer rooted in a separation between Asian and American Drawing New Color Lines explores the culture production and history of contemporary graphic narratives that depict Asian Americans and Asians It examines how Japanese manga and Asian popular culture have influenced Asian American comics how these comics and Asian American graphic narratives depict the look of race and how these various representations are interpreted in nations not of their production By focusing on what graphic narratives mean for audiences in North America and those in Asia the collection discusses how Western theories about the ways in which graphic narratives might successfully overturn derogatory caricatures are themselves based on contested assumptions and illustrates that the so called odorless images featured in Japanese manga might nevertheless elicit interpretations about race in transnational contexts With contributions from experts based in North America and Asia Drawing New Color Lines will be of interest to scholars in a variety of disciplines including Asian American studies cultural and literary studies comics and visual studies Drawing New Color Lines makes an exciting contribution to the rapidly expanding inquiry at the crossroads of Asian American literary studies graphic narrative studies and transnational studies Foregrounding the shifting meanings of race within across and between various national contexts the fifteen essays in Chiu s collection explore the visual dimensions of Asian American transnational literary culture with originality and offer particular insight into the complexities of production interpretation and reception for graphic narrative Pamela Thoma author of Asian American Women's Popular Literature Feminizing Genres and Neoliberal Belonging An informative smart and necessary collection Drawing New Color Lines investigates a growing and important field transnational Asian American comics with sophistication and breadth Hillary Chute author of Graphic Women Life Narrative and Contemporary Comics and Outside the Box Interviews with Contemporary Cartoonists

Growing Up in the Gutter Ricardo Quintana-Vallejo, 2024-05-28 Growing Up in the Gutter offers new understandings of contemporary graphic coming of age narratives by looking at the genre's growth in stories by and for young BIPOC LGBTQ and diasporic readers Through a careful examination of the genre Ricardo Quintana Vallejo analyzes the complex identity formation of first and subsequent generation migrant protagonists in globalized rural and urban environments and dissects the implications that these diasporic formative processes have for a growing and popular genre While the most traditional iteration of the bildungsroman the coming of age story follows middle class male heroes who forge their identities in a process of complex introspection contemporary graphic coming of age narratives represent formative processes that fit into resist or even disregard narratives of socialization under capitalism of citizenship and of nationhood Quintana Vallejo delves into several important themes how the coming of age genre can be used to study adulthood how displacement and international or global heritage are fundamental experiences how multidiasporic approaches foreground lived experiences and how queerness opens narratives of development to the study of adulthood as fundamentally diverse and nonconforming to social norms Quintana Vallejo shows how openness enables belonging among chosen families and perhaps most importantly freedom to disidentify And finally how contemporary authors writing for the instruction of BIPOC children and children otherwise affected by diaspora and displacement use the didactic power of the coming of age genre combined with the hybrid language of graphic narratives to teach difficult topics in accessible ways
