

How accurate is it to say that the position of women saw a considerable improvement in the years 1941-1980?

- Second world war- opened up more job opportunities for women, jobs that were originally reserved for men.- change in attitude
- Women's liberation movement- call for affirmative action, the equal rights act but women still discriminated against in some areas

However, this improvement was only temporary as after the war was over, many women were not re-employed by the factories they worked for. Over half of the married women who were in work were forced to leave due to social pressure or as a result of the federally funded day-care centres, that were set up under the Lanham Act, closing in 1946. After this decrease in women working, female employment rate rose again. Women who had received training were often still accepted in those professions although white women were often employed before women of any other race. Women in the workforce during the war lead to a change in attitude to women working in general. In 1936, 82% of society believed that married women should not work. In 1938, this decreased to 72%, and in
