old will visit zoos and aquariums each year People stand in front of the animals hypnotized by the every movement of the animal People seemed to be looking not just at the animal but almost as if they were looking inside these animals wondering and questioning about the lives of some of our most distant animal relatives In my classroom I found the exact same kinds of responses The discussions and questions of my students motivated me to share with you the lives and abilities of some of the most amazing living creatures in the world People realize that humans are also animals but the belief that we have superior intelligence and problem solving abilities makes us think we are far superior to all of the rest of our Animal World As I began to learn more and lead my student discussions I soon realized that maybe our intelligence was the only thing that we really did have in our superiority over the rest of our animal relatives I began to look into the idea of comparing humans to animals in a wide variety of behaviors and activities and soon a brand new window into the REAL world of animals began to open up I soon realized that even the most insignificant animals in our world were really superstars when compared to humans By using math we are able to truly get a comparison of animals and how they relate to our own human abilities As I began to create the problems and do the math it became very evident that I began to get the responses that I had hoped for I soon began to call these responses the Wow factor A number of times the teachers that have worked on the problems would actually go back and do the problems a second time because there has to be a mistake or no way that this can be true There were no mistakes and the math did not lie The math allowed us to look at the animals in a totally different way I hope that you too will be amazed and wowed by some of these amazing animals that we share our world with

Challenging Mathematics In and Beyond the Classroom Edward J. Barbeau, Peter J. Taylor, 2009-04-21

In the mid 1980s the International Commission on Mathematical Instruction (ICMI) inaugurated a series of studies in mathematics education by commissioning one on the influence of technology and informatics on mathematics and its teaching. These studies are designed to thoroughly explore topics of temporary interest by gathering together a group of experts who prepare a Study Volume that provides a considered assessment of the current state and a guide to further developments. Studies have embraced a range of issues, some central such as the teaching of algebra, some closely related such as the impact of history and psychology, and some looking at mathematics education from a particular perspective such as cultural differences between East and West. These studies have been commissioned at the rate of about one per year. Once the ICMI Executive decides on the topic, one or two chairs are selected and then in consultation with them an International Program Committee (IPC) of about 12 experts is formed. The IPC then meets and prepares a Discussion Document that sets forth the issues and invites interested parties to submit papers. These papers are the basis for invitations to a Study Conference at which the various dimensions of the topic are explored and a book, the Study Volume, is sketched out. The book is then put together in collaboration, mainly using electronic communication. The entire process typically takes about six years.
