Summary of World Broadcasts British Broadcasting Corporation. Monitoring Service, 1987

Climate Change Vulnerability in Southern African Cities Silvia Macchi, Maurizio Tiepolo, 2014-02-24 In recent decades extreme rains and drought have struck urban regions in Africa like never before Nevertheless limited information is available on which to base development of early warning systems identification of high risk zones and formulation of local action plans This book is about how to build the knowledge necessary for planning adaptation to climate change in Sub Saharan cities It brings together lessons learned from international development actions conducted by a number of scholars in disciplines ranging from meteorology and hydrogeology to urban planning and environmental management Selected methods to assess the impacts of extreme weather and ecological stress are presented along with possible approaches to improve the adaptive capacity of Sub Saharan cities through institutional measures at the local government level The book is addressed to graduate students researchers and practitioners interested in enhancing their knowledge and skills in order to integrate climate change into applied research and development projects in urban Africa

The Taming of Fate S. Macamo, 2017-07-05 This book is about how extreme situations appearing to have a destructive potential can actually be used to produce meaningful individual and social lives It is about the taming of fate This notion means and accounts for the ability of individuals and communities to rebuild their lives against all odds The book is based on case studies that draw from theoretical insights derived from the sociology of disasters It addresses some limitations of the sociology of risk chief among which is the rejection of the relevance of the notion of risk to the study of technologically non advanced societies The book argues that this rejection has deprived the study of the human condition of an important analytical asset The book claims that risk is a property of social action which can best be understood through the analytical scrutiny of its role in the historical constitution of social relations

Climate Change and

Resilient Food Systems Vinaya Kumar Hebsale Mallappa, Mahantesh Shirur, 2021-02-04 This book provides insights on innovative strategies to build resilient food systems in the wake of challenges posed by climate change. Providing food security to the growing population especially in developing countries without exacerbating the environment is a major challenge. Climate change is expected to reduce agricultural productivity leading to a decline in overall food availability and significantly increasing the number of malnourished children in developing countries. Interventions for enhancing the adaptive capacity of farmers especially of small holders needs immediate impetus. The policy formulation and development programs must reorient in the wake of the new expectations and deliverables. This book comprises of sixteen chapters that discuss the trends in global agriculture development and food system. The book highlights different aspects of household food and nutritional security. The chapters covering diverse aspects address food system rural and urban food chain factors affecting their sustainability and short and long term solutions to make them climate resilient. Important issues having significant implications on climate change such as Waste management Value chain Agri marketing etc are also covered. The book would be an important resource for researchers in food science environmental sciences and agriculture. It would also be beneficial for students and future scientists working on sustainable agriculture and food security.
