

BRANDS THAT MAKE THE BEST CARS

We rank automakers from best to worst on their scores and survey results.

by JEFF S. KRAVITZ

How we made the rankings: The Overall Score is calculated by averaging scores from five categories: reliability, owner satisfaction, and safety. For the reliability rating, we used data from Consumer Reports' reliability survey, which is based on problems reported by members. Reliability is based on a car's failure rate for repairs. Owner satisfaction and safety are based on a car's performance in the areas of interior and exterior quality, performance, safety, and value. The Overall Score is a composite of all these factors. A score of 80 or higher is considered a good score, while a score of 70 or lower is considered a poor score.

and vehicle longevity of its automakers can show you if the right direction when making a new car purchase. These ratings are based on the average Overall Score, a combination of our most recent reliability, safety, and owner satisfaction data, and reflect the all of the models from each automaker. The top five brands this year are the same ones as 2023, with BMW leading the pack with an 87 score, followed by Subaru, the leading manufacturer brand with 85. This year, for both companies, a clear consistent combination of high and low scores and very good predicted reliability. Porsche takes the third position with a score of 84. Both Porsche and Cadillac moved up 10 positions this year due to their improved reliability. Keep in mind that even high scoring brands can have some lower performing models, so be sure to check the ratings (see page 46) for the auto you're considering. This is especially true for bigger brands like Ford and Toyota, which have some models that performed far better than others in our tests. (If the brands CR ranked this year were recommending every model rated from worst (BMW, Porsche, Honda, Kia, Mazda, and Audi) Single pick: You can buy and feel confident from those companies with confidence. (There are also brands that don't have a single model recommended by CR, including models when buying one of those.) To be included in the overall ranking, CR has to have tested at least two current models from a company. We've tested only one model from Lotus, Polestar, and Ram, so they aren't included this year.
