Weda Bay Environmental Report:

Feasibility Report on Navigation Improvements, Coos Bay, 1994 International Environmental Law and the Global South Shawkat Alam, Sumudu Atapattu, Carmen G. Gonzalez, Jona Razzaque, 2015-09-17 The unprecedented degradation of the planet's vital ecosystems is among the most pressing issues confronting the international community. Despite the proliferation of legal instruments to combat environmental problems, conflicts between rich and poor nations, the North-South divide, have compromised international environmental law, leading to deadlocks in environmental treaty negotiations and noncompliance with existing agreements. This volume examines both the historical origins of the North-South divide in European colonialism as well as its contemporary manifestations in a range of issues including food justice, energy justice, indigenous rights, trade, investment, extractive industries, human rights, land grabs, hazardous waste, and climate change. Born out of the recognition that global inequality and profligate consumerism present threats to a sustainable planet, this book makes a unique contribution to international environmental law by emphasizing the priorities and perspectives of the global South. Sustainability Matters: Environmental Management In Asia Lin Heng Lye, George Ofori, Lai Choo Malone-lee, Victor R. Savage, Yen-peng Ting, 2010-07-27 This is a compilation of some of the best research papers of students from the MSc Environmental Management programme at the National University of Singapore from 2001-2006. They have been edited for brevity and cover a wide range of topics encompassing Corporate Environmental Management, the Conservation of Biological Diversity, Land use Planning, the Marine Environment, the Environment and Economic Development, Energy Sustainability, as well as Urban Pollution and Waste Management. These issues are examined in the context of different Asian countries including Bangladesh, Hong Kong, India, Indonesia, Malaysia, Nepal, Singapore, Thailand, and Vietnam. This book provides perspectives of the many challenges that confront environmental managers and ventures to suggest some solutions. Report on Environmental Assessment of Pesticide Programs ... County Component California. Department of Food and Agriculture, California. Environmental Assessment Team, 1978 Natural Resources Grabbing: An International Law Perspective Francesca Romanin Jacur, Angelica Bonfanti, Francesco Seatzu, 2015-10-14 The growing demand for natural resources has triggered a race to their exploitation and possession, especially in developing countries. Most desired are water, land, forests, raw materials, oil, gas, mineral, and precious stones, fisheries, and genetic resources. Emerging economies, Western states, multinational corporations, and international financial institutions have become the biggest buyers in a race that on one hand strengthens economies and creates investment opportunities and on the other threatens local communities and environmental protection. Natural Resources Grabbing: An International Law Perspective aims at filling a gap in the legal literature by addressing the adverse effects that large-scale investments in natural resources may pose to fundamental human rights and the protection of the environment. Environmental Aspects of Dredging R. N. Bray, 2008-03-10. Expanding a port, deepening a navigation channel or creating new land for development introduces changes to our physical, social, economic and political environment. Changes may result from events during the construction process or relate to the nature of the completed structure. Changes can be positive or negative, short term or long term, and may affect the immediate vicinity of the project or a larger geographical area. Predicting and assessing all possible effects of a planned dredging activity in a scientifically sound and reliable manner is essential so that appropriate control measures can be taken to avoid or mitigate unwelcome impacts. This book provides guidance for a complete holistic environmental evaluation procedure and for the design and implementation of environmental control measures. The book is of particular interest to engineers, government agencies and port authorities as well as civil engineering consultants and contractors involved in planning and designing dredging, maritime infrastructure and fluvial projects.
