Broadcasting the Local News Lynn Boyd Hinds, 2010-11-01 Television came to Pittsburgh in 1949 when WDTV the forerunner of KDKA TV went on the air Whereas many television stations in the United States began reading news on the air only to comply with FCC requirements WDTV treated news seriously from day one with its first regular program a local news show called Pitt Parade Today KDKA is still highly regarded among journalists for its news programming Although television news may seem familiar to us it was anything but familiar to the men and women of early television Hinds shows how they borrowed liberally from newspapers radio motion picture newsreels theater and even magazines to create by trial and error suitable ways to present the news Rather than instantly replacing radio television news moved slowly from the rip and read radio style format which simply duplicated what came over the wire services and was in the newspapers to the conventions of local newscasts we take for granted today live remotes lead and feature stories sports and weather all brought together by an in studio anchor Pittsburghers will recognize many familiar names in Hinds's account Bill Burns Paul Long Florence Sando Eleanor Schano and others veterans of Pittsburgh broadcasting whom Hinds has interviewed for this book The story they tell is the story of dozens of other stations across the country In the process they tell us much about the early history of television in America Lynn Boyd Hinds spent over twenty years in Pittsburgh television and radio before moving to Penn State University where he was an affiliate producer for WPSX TV the public broadcasting station in Central Pennsylvania There he created and hosted the popular quiz show The Pennsylvania Game Today he is Associate Professor of Broadcast News in the Perley Isaac Reed School of Journalism at West Virginia University Live Television Drama, 1946-1951 William Hawes, 2015-11-16 The live era or golden age of television drama originating from New York 1946 through 1951 was an exciting time of creative and commercial accomplishment This is a complete history and reference guide to the live dramas that aired during those six years Extensive coverage is given to the NBC anthologies Kraft Television Theatre and Philco Television Playhouse and the CBS anthologies Ford Theater and Studio One as well as to the competitors the 28 new anthologies that appeared in the prime time schedule during 1950 and 1951 Appendices comprehensively list the day by day program logs for BBC CBS and NBC dramas from 1946 through 1951 FCC Record United States. Kugel,1953 Hollywood Vault Eric Hoyt,2014-07-03 Hollywood Vault is the story of how the business of film libraries emerged and evolved spanning the silent era to the sale of feature libraries to television Eric Hoyt argues that film libraries became valuable not because of the introduction of new technologies but because of the emergence and growth of new markets and suggests that studying the history of film libraries leads to insights about their role in the contemporary digital marketplace The history begins in the mid 1910s when the star system and other developments enabled a market for old films that featured current stars After the transition to films with sound the reissue market declined but the studios used their libraries for the production of remakes and other derivatives The turning point in the history of studio libraries occurred during the mid to late 1940s when changes in American culture and an industry wide recession convinced the studios to employ their libraries as profit centers through the use of theatrical reissues In the 1950s intermediary distributors used the growing market of television to harness libraries aggressively as foundations for cross media expansion a trend that continues today By the late 1960s the television marketplace and the exploitation of film libraries became so lucrative that they prompted conglomerates to acquire the studios The first book to discuss film libraries as an important and often underestimated part of Hollywood history Hollywood Vault presents a fascinating trajectory that incorporates cultural legal and industrial history Photographer's Guide to the Panasonic ZS100/TZ100 Alexander S.
