The Oxford Handbook of Comparative Foreign Relations Law Curtis A. Bradley, 2019-06-07 This Oxford Handbook ambitiously seeks to lay the groundwork for the relatively new field of comparative foreign relations law Comparative foreign relations law compares and contrasts how nations and also supranational entities for example the European Union structure their decisions about matters such as entering into and exiting from international agreements engaging with international institutions and using military force as well as how they incorporate treaties and customary international law into their domestic legal systems The legal materials that make up a nation's foreign relations law can include constitutional law statutory law administrative law and judicial precedent among other areas This book consists of 46 chapters written by leading authors from around the world Some of the chapters are empirically focused others are theoretical and still others contain in depth case studies In addition to being an invaluable resource for scholars working in this area the book should be of interest to a wide range of lawyers judges and law students Foreign relations law issues are addressed regularly by lawyers working in foreign ministries and globalization has meant that domestic judges too are increasingly confronted by them In addition private lawyers who work on matters that extend beyond their home countries often are required to navigate issues of foreign relations law An increasing number of law school courses in comparative foreign relations law are also now being developed making this volume an important resource for students as well Comparative foreign relations law is a newly emerging field of study and teaching and this volume is likely to become a key reference work as the field continues to develop

The Political Economy of Natural Resources and Development Paul A. Haslam, Pablo Heidrich, 2016-02-05 The Political Economy of Resources and Development offers a unique and multidisciplinary perspective on how the commodity boom of the mid 2000s reshaped the model of development throughout Latin America and elsewhere in the developing world Governments increased taxes and royalties on the resource sector the nationalization of foreign firms returned to the mainstream economic policy agenda and public spending on social and developmental goals surged These trends often described as resource nationalism have developed into a strategy for economic development generated a re imagining of the state and its institutional possibilities and created a new but very significant political risk for extractive enterprises However these innovations which constitute the most dramatic change in development policy in Latin America since the advent of neoliberalism have so far received little attention from either academic or policy oriented publications This book explores the reasons behind these policies and their effects on states firms and development trajectories This text brings together renowned thematic experts to examine the political economic causes of resource nationalism as well as its manifestation in six Latin American countries The causal variables considered by the contributors to this collection include a range of political economic determinants of policy including commodity prices the influence of ideology and national politics ideas about industrial policy relations between host governments and investors and how countries respond to opportunities provided by regional initiatives and the new geography of the global economy This volume is essential reading in development economics political economy and Latin American studies as well as for those who want to understand what economic development means after neoliberalism

Lawyers in 21st-Century Societies Richard L Abel, Ole Hammerslev, Hilary Sommerlad, Ulrike Schultz, 2020-04-02 The world's legal professions have undergone dramatic changes in the 30 years since publication of the landmark three volume Lawyers in Society which launched comparative sociological studies of lawyers. This is the first of two volumes in which scholars from a wide range of disciplines, countries and cultures document and analyse those changes. The present volume presents reports on 46 countries with broad coverage of North America, Western Europe, Latin America, Asia, Australia, North Africa and the Middle East, sub-Saharan Africa and former communist countries. These national reports address the impact of globalisation and neoliberalism on national legal professions, the relationship of lawyers and their professional associations to the state and tensions between state and citizenship, changes in lawyer demography, rapidly growing numbers and the profession's efforts to retain control, the entry of women and obstacles to full gender equality, ethnic diversity, legal education, the proliferation of institutions and pedagogic innovation, the regulation of lawyers, structures of production, especially the growth of large firms and the impact of technology and paraprofessionals, the distribution of lawyers across roles and access to justice, state funded legal aid and pro bono services. The juxtaposition of the reports reveals the dramatic transformations of professional rationales, labour markets and working practices and the multiple contingencies of the role of lawyers in societies experiencing increasing juridification within a new geopolitical order.
