

Teaching Transparency 75 – Getting Freshwater Resources

1. Wells drilled into the ground tap groundwater in aquifers. This water is replenished by rain that percolates downward through soil and rock by the process of natural recharge.
2. The groundwater may get used faster than it can be recharged, causing the water table to drop below the well. Water shortages would occur.
1. They control the flow of water, capturing and storing a river's flow as well as rain and melting snow.
2. It is released for irrigation and municipal uses, and is used to produce hydroelectric power and for recreation.
3. Salt water is heated until it evaporates. Then it is condensed, and the resulting freshwater is collected.
4. Some desalination plants use solar energy, which is slow but inexpensive and renewable. Others use fuel, which is faster but more expensive.
5. They carry freshwater from where it is plentiful to where there is a great demand for it, such as to cities and agricultural areas.

Achieving Quality Education for All Phillip Hughes, 2012-11-13 Due to the development of the international Education for

All and Education for Sustainable Development movements for which UNESCO is the lead agency there has been an increasing emphasis on the power of education and schooling to help build more just and equitable societies Thus giving everyone the opportunity to develop their talents to the full regardless of characteristics such as gender socio economic status ethnicity religious persuasion or regional location As enshrined in the United Nations Declaration on Human Rights over five decades ago everyone has the right to receive a high quality and relevant education In order to try to achieve this ideal many countries are substantially re engineering their education systems with an increasing emphasis on promoting equity and fairness and on ensuring that everyone has access to a high quality and relevant education They are also moving away from the traditional outlook of almost exclusively stressing formal education in schools as the most valuable way in which people learn to accepting that important and valuable learning does not just occur in formal dedicated education institutions but also through informal and non formal means Thus learning is both lifelong and life wide This book brings together the experience and research of 40 recognised and experienced opinion leaders in education around the world The book investigates the most effective ways of ensuring the UNESCO aim of effective education for all people in the belief that not only should education be a right for all but also that education and schooling has the potential to transform individual lives and to contribute to the development of more just humane and equitable societies
