improves as market share increases specialist companies see a decrease in financial performance as their market share increases as the latter are margin driven companies This theory powerfully captures the evolution of global markets and what executives must do to succeed It is based on empirical analyses of hundreds of markets and industries in the US and globally Competitive markets evolve in a predictable fashion across industries and geographies where every industry goes through a similar lifecycle from beginning to end or revitalization From local to regional to national markets the last stop in the evolution of markets is going global The pattern is so consistent that it represents a distinct and natural market structure at every level The authors offer strategies that generalists and specialist should follow to stay competitive as well as twelve expansion strategies for global companies from emerging markets This book chronicles this global evolution and provides impactful managerial implications for executives and students of marketing and corporate strategy alike Innovation

Systems and Capabilities in Developing Regions Willie Siyanbola, Olumuyiwa Olamade, 2016-05-23 In today's knowledge driven world innovation and innovation systems have become key policy issues However the extent of knowledge that is available on these concepts in less developed countries is still relatively low Much of what we know about innovation theory and systems has come from the developed countries and reflects their world view This apparent knowledge deficit has major implications for less developed countries Innovation Systems and Capabilities in Developing Regions adds to the growing body of knowledge on developing countries The theoretical and empirical case studies presented here advance the notion that while developing countries may not engage in frontier research a critical knowledge base upon which these countries compete for global markets is emerging There is evidence that state and non state actors are increasingly emphasising policies that sit within the framework of national innovation systems This book illuminates this shift in policy competence at national levels The contributions in this volume highlight the need for thorough understanding of the role of diffusion based innovation linked to technology transfer and acquisition They also provide empirical evidence on the drivers dynamics and impact of such innovation in developing economies and the constraints that apply Contributors also document the application of the innovation system approach in developing countries as well as the build up and diffusion of technological capabilities within innovation systems Academics higher level students policy makers and practitioners involved with innovation and the economics of technical change particularly in developing countries will find this a valuable book Asia Electronics Industry, 2006
