Biorefinery: A Sustainable Approach for the Production of Biomaterials, Biochemicals and Biofuels Pranav D. Pathak, Sachin A. Mandavgane, 2023-03-01 This book discusses recent trends and concepts in the field of biorefinery. It discusses optimal and economic strategies for converting biomass to value added products to maximize profits with minimal environmental impact with a sustainability approach. The chapters of the book are focused on the current technologies, technological, economical aspects, life cycle assessment and case studies. The book is divided into three sections: the first section presents strategies for the production of biofuels like bioethanol, biomethane, biohydrogen, bio-oil, gasification etc. from the biomass in a sustainable way. The second section reviews the extraction of bioactive chemicals, phenolic antioxidants, enzymes and carboxylic acid from the biomass residue. The last section examines the utilization of biomass for the production of bioactive materials including biofertilizers, bioadsorbents, activated carbon, nano materials and pigments. This book explores the relation between biofuels and the sustainable development goals (SDGs). 7 Advances in Engineering Materials, Structures and Systems: Innovations, Mechanics and Applications Alphose Zingoni, 2019-08-21 Advances in Engineering Materials, Structures and Systems: Innovations, Mechanics and Applications comprises 411 papers that were presented at SEMC 2019, the Seventh International Conference on Structural Engineering, Mechanics and Computation, held in Cape Town, South Africa, from 2 to 4 September 2019. The subject matter reflects the broad scope of SEMC conferences and covers a wide variety of engineering materials, both traditional and innovative, and many types of structures. The many topics featured in these Proceedings can be classified into six broad categories that deal with: i) the mechanics of materials and fluids (elasticity, plasticity, flow through porous media, fluid dynamics, fracture, fatigue, damage, delamination, corrosion, bond, creep, shrinkage etc.); ii) the mechanics of structures and systems (structural dynamics, vibration, seismic response, soil-structure interaction, fluid-structure interaction, response to blast and impact, response to fire, structural stability, buckling, collapse, behaviour); iii) the numerical modelling and experimental testing of materials and structures (numerical methods, simulation techniques, multi-scale modelling, computational modelling, laboratory testing, field testing, experimental measurements); iv) innovations and special structures (nanostructures, adaptive structures, smart structures, composite structures, bio-inspired structures, shell structures, membranes, space structures, lightweight structures, long span structures, tall buildings, wind turbines etc.); v) design in traditional engineering materials (steel, concrete, steel-concrete composite, aluminium, masonry, timber, glass); vi) the process of structural engineering (conceptualisation, planning, analysis, design, optimization, construction, assembly, manufacture, testing, maintenance, monitoring, assessment, repair, strengthening, retrofitting, decommissioning). The SEMC 2019 Proceedings will be of interest to civil, structural, mechanical, marine and aerospace engineers, researchers, developers, practitioners and academics in these disciplines. The walk without limbs: Searching for indigenous health knowledge in a rural context in South Africa Gubela Mji,Melanie Alperstein,Nondwe Bongokazi Mlenzana,Karen Galloway,Chioma Ohajunwa,Lieketseng Ned,Ntombekhaya Tshabalala,2019-12-12 In a country as diverse as South Africa sickness and health often mean different things to different people so much so that the different health definitions and health belief models in the country seem to have a profound influence on the health seeking behaviour of the people who are part of our vibrant multicultural society This book is concerned with the integration of indigenous health knowledge IHK into the current Western orientated Primary Health Care PHC model The first section of the book highlights the challenges facing the training of health professionals using a curriculum that is not drawing its knowledge base from the indigenous context and the people of that context Such professionals will later recognise that they are walking without limbs in matters pertaining to health The area that was chosen for conducting the research was KwaBomvana in Xhosa Elliotdale Eastern Cape province South Africa The people who reside there are called AmaBomvana The area where the Bomvana peoples reside is served by Madwaleni Hospital and eight surrounding clinics Qualitative ethnographic feminist methods of data collection supported the research done for Section 1 of the book Section 2 comprises the translation and implementation of PhD study outcomes and had contributions from various researchers In the critical research findings of the PhD study older Xhosa women identify the inclusion of social determinants of health as vital to the health problems they managed within their homes For them each disease is linked to a social determinant of health and the management of health problems includes the management of social determinants of health For them it is about the health of the home and not just about the management of disease They believe that healthy homes make healthy villages and that the prevention of the development of disease is related to the strengthening of the home Health and illness should be seen within both physical and spiritual contexts without health there can be no progress in the home When defining health the older Xhosa women add three critical components to the WHO health definition namely food security healthy children and families and peace and security in their villages Prof Mji further proposes that these three elements should be included in the next revision of the WHO health definition because they are not only important for the Bomvana people where the research was conducted but also for the rest of humanity In light of the promise of National Health Insurance and the revitalisation of PHC this book proposes that these two major national health policies should take cognisance of the IHK utilised by the older Xhosa women In addition to what this research implies these policies should also take note of all IHK from the indigenous peoples of South Africa Africa and the rest of the world and that there should be a clear plan as to how the knowledge can be supported within a health care systems approach

Corporate Social Responsibility - Sustainable Business Rae Lindsay, Roger Martella, 2020-06-17 In a dramatic departure from its voluntary origins, corporate social responsibility (CSR) is rapidly shifting to hold multinational companies accountable for more than traditional shareholder performance. This CSR movement is embracing new environmental, social and governance (ESG) frameworks that both promote global sustainability goals and enhance accountability for negative impacts businesses can have on planet and people. This collection of essays by leading businesspeople, international civil servants, legal practitioners, academics and other experts offers a forward looking and pragmatic perspective that illuminates the major themes in this movement towards increasingly sustainable, transparent and accountable business practices. The collection shows how CSR has evolved to account for societal pressures, environmental, climate change and human rights impacts, international policy imperatives and the practical challenges of regulating commercial activity that transcends borders. The chapters offer an in depth examination of current issues including international frameworks and multistakeholder initiatives catalysing foundational change, the shifting emphasis on corporate imperatives to avoid harm to third parties, trends in CSR focused on assuring the planet's future sustainability and social stability, regulatory initiatives around the globe including Europe, North America, Asia and Africa and extended accountability for activities of corporate group members and supply chains. The pressure and business case for companies to incorporate CSR into corporate governance is intensifying with each quarter shareholder meeting and regulatory agenda. The integration of CSR and new ESG frameworks into multinational corporate strategy and operations is key to sustainable business models that can generate long term value for the organization and all stakeholders. Their acceptance as
