Smart Economy in Smart Cities T. M. Vinod Kumar, 2016-08-25 The present book highlights studies that show how smart cities promote urban economic development The book surveys the state of the art of Smart City

Economic Development through a literature survey The book uses 13 in depth city research case studies in 10 countries such as the North America Europe Africa and Asia to explain how a smart economy changes the urban spatial system and vice versa This book focuses on exploratory city studies in different countries which investigate how urban spatial systems adapt to the specific needs of smart urban economy The theory of smart city economic development is not yet entirely understood and applied in metropolitan regional plans Smart urban economies are largely the result of the influence of ICT applications on all aspects of urban economy which in turn changes the land use system It points out that the dynamics of smart city GDP creation takes different paths which need further empirical study hypothesis testing and mathematical modelling Although there are hypotheses on how smart cities generate wealth and social benefits for nations there are no significant empirical studies available on how they generate urban economic development through urban spatial adaptation This book with 13 cities research studies is one attempt to fill in the gap in knowledge base

Sustainable Growth in the African Economy Jeffrey James, 2017-03-27 The current growth path in sub Saharan Africa is not following the Lewis model where labour moves from low productivity agriculture to higher productivity manufacturing Instead it is moving directly to inappropriate import and labour saving methods This book seeks to show how this distorted growth process leaves out the major resource of these countries labour and ends up creating unstable employment and underemployment leading to inequality and poverty In this way it demonstrates how the entire growth process may be rendered unstable and unsustainable Sustainable Growth in the African Economy considers whether the relatively rapid growth of recent years can be maintained or improved upon with a focus on the process of industrialisation Basing itself on a well known dual economy model the proposed book focuses on several major problems of industrialisation which has long been seen as the means of structural change in an economy which begins from a low income level The book considers how the future trajectory of sub Saharan Africa compares to recent success stories on other continents and explains how factors such as rapid population growth and capital and import intensive technology in manufacturing could foreshadow future social and political problems This book will be essential reading to students and policymakers who are concerned with the existing pattern of African growth
