

A photograph of a modern university building with a curved facade. The words "Vaal University of Technology" are inscribed in large, light-colored letters along the top curve of the building. Below this, a smaller sign with the letters "VUT" is visible. The building has a mix of grey concrete and reddish-brown brickwork. A yellow banner with black text is overlaid across the middle of the image.

The Politics of Truth and Reconciliation in South Africa Richard Wilson, 2001-05-02 The South African Truth and Reconciliation Commission TRC was set up to deal with the human rights violations of apartheid during the years 1960 1994 However as Wilson shows the TRC s restorative justice approach to healing the nation did not always serve the needs of communities at a local level Based on extended anthropological fieldwork this book illustrates the impact of the TRC in urban African communities in Johannesburg While a religious constituency largely embraced the commission s religious redemptive language of reconciliation Wilson argues that the TRC had little effect on popular ideas of justice as retribution This provocative study deepens our understanding of post apartheid South Africa and the use of human rights discourse It ends on a call for more cautious and realistic expectations about what human rights institutions can achieve in democratizing countries

Tempelhoff,2018-12-01 Geologists physicists and ecologists currently promote the idea of a post Holocene epoch the Anthropocene As a result of constant innovation and modernisation in the fields of engineering natural science management studies and environmental studies there has been a growing awareness of the intrinsic interaction between humankind and the environment Humankind has become part of the environmental dynamics to the extent that they are literally able to change ecosystems Nowhere is the impact more evident than in the anthropogenic engagement with the hydrosphere from the smallest pool of water to the earth s atmosphere Comprehensive infrastructure development in water and sanitation the growing trend to seek additional resources in the form of groundwater desalinated seawater and recycled wastewater as well as special attention being given to capturing and preserving rainwater bear evidence of a timely response to climate change population growth and rapid development in many water stressed regions of the world The purpose of the book is to provide a historical overview of the manner in which South Africa s water resources have been governed from a time when the Union of South Africa was formed in 1910 up to 2008 a time of a growing global awareness of the potential impact that climate change may have on water resources in a key region of southern Africa notable for increasing levels of aridity and more erratic rainfall patterns This focus on the history of water affairs in South Africa makes it possible for scholars to comprehend the contemporary transitions made in the country s water governance system since the establishment in 2014 of the Department of Water and Sanitation The focus is on the Water Energy Food nexus a strategy which holistically contemplates the governance and use of water from the perspective of the interconnection between water energy and food as resources

Africa from MIS 6-2 Sacha C. Jones,Brian A. Stewart,2016-03-04 Bringing together archaeological paleoenvironmental paleontological and genetic data this book makes a first attempt to reconstruct African population histories from out species evolution to the Holocene Africa during Marine Isotope Stages MIS 6 to 2 190 12 000 years ago witnessed the biological development and behavioral florescence of our species Modern human population dynamics which involved multiple population expansions dispersals contractions and extinctions played a central role in our species evolutionary trajectory So far the demographic processes modern human population sizes distributions and movements that occurred within Africa during this critical period have been consistently under addressed The authors of this volume aim at 1 examining the impact of this glacial interglacial glacial cycle on human group sizes movements and distributions throughout Africa 2 investigating the macro and micro evolutionary processes underpinning our species anatomical and behavioral evolution and 3 setting an agenda whereby Africa can benefit from and eventually contribute to the increasingly sophisticated theoretical and methodological palaeodemographic frameworks developed on other continents
