Chapter Five: Major Contemporary Global Issues

5.1. Survey of Major Contemporary Global Issues

- the world today is distinctively different from, say, the world of the 1970s or 1980s – because of the end of the Cold War
- This new period is now well established though it is still often referred to as the post-Cold War period
- The distinctiveness of the post-Cold War period rests upon the predominance of new issues. the agenda of world politics has been transformed
 - No longer is world politics dominated by
 - Issues arising from East–West relations
 - the threat of nuclear war
 - the ideological struggle between liberal democracy and Marxism–Leninism, crisis diplomacy, and so on
 - The international community is now preoccupied with other issues such as
 - the search for a 'New World Order'
 - the impact of terrorism
 - the disparities in wealth between developed and developing countries
 - environmental issues and so on
- What makes an issue a global issue? The answer to this question is found in addressing the following four interlinked questions
 - What is the extent or scope of an issue? Does it affect large parts of the global arena or it is confined and contained to a narrow scope?
 - What is the urgency or intensity of the issue?
 - is a rather subjective question, since it relates to the general question of 'significant to whom?'
 - What is the salience or visibility of a given issue?
 - This question relates to the roles of the media or other actors who confer urgency or intensity
 - What is the centrality or location of an issue?
 - This is partly an objective issue of geography, implying that the closer the issue is to important actors the greater the attention and significance it will acquire

The Oxfam Poverty Report

Kevin Watkins, 1995 Fifty years ago the United Nations Charter proclaimed universal rights to shared prosperity peace and security How far has that vision of world citizenship been realised Despite advances in human welfare and technology there is today a growing polarisation between rich and poor One in four of the world's people live in absolute poverty unable to meet their basic needs armed conflict is affecting millions of people and the global environment is under threat Yet there is a failure of political will to address the silent emergency of poverty The Oxfam Poverty Report draws on Oxfam's experience of working in over 70 countries to examine the causes of poverty and conflict It identifies the structural forces which deny people their basic rights and gives a wide range of examples of the ways in which men and women are bringing about positive change at every level from the household to the international arena Oxfam believes that it is time to renew the UN vision of universal basic rights The Report concludes by proposing policy and institutional reforms which would transform international institutions and trading relations and calls for a new commitment to work together to eradicate poverty and bring sustainable peace and security for all the world's people
