

Ultimate ENPC Study Guide with Questions and Answers

A 4-year-old presents with vomiting, lethargy, frequent urination, weight loss, and dry mucous membranes. Vital signs reveal deep respirations at 44 breaths per minute, BP of 70/44 mm Hg, and HR of 144 beats per minute. Which of the following laboratory values would be most expected in this child? ☒ Hypoglycemia (wrong)

Remediation feedback:

Children can present with new onset diabetes in diabetic ketoacidosis. Manifestations include signs of dehydration (dry mucous membranes, hypotension, tachycardia), incontinence (polyuria), vomiting, abdominal pain, Kussmaul respirations (to counter the acidosis), polydipsia, anorexia, and weight loss. Expected laboratory values would reveal an acidotic state with a pH level below 7.3, an elevated serum bicarbonate level, and an elevated blood glucose level > 200 mg.dL.

An 18-month-old is seen for fever, slight circumoral cyanosis, and wheezing noted on auscultation in the right upper lobe of the lung field after a choking event 4 days ago. The white blood cell count is elevated and the patient noted to be tachypneic, tachycardic, agitated, and has an increased respiratory effort. At the time of the event, the patient was started on antibiotics with subsequent increasing manifestations instead of improvement. Which of the following would be considered to be definitive treatment for the suspected diagnosis? ☒ The definitive treatment would be a bronchoscopy in order to retrieve the suspected foreign body instead of diagnostic tests to locate the foreign body itself.

A child in cardiopulmonary arrest is receiving chest compressions and manual ventilations with a bag-mask device. Once return of spontaneous circulation has been confirmed, which of the following would be the priority intervention? ☒ Establishing a secure airway

Parents report their 3-year-old child has developed noisy breathing. On assessment, high-pitched wheezes are audible and auscultated on inspiration and expiration. What medication would be appropriate to administer first? ☒ Initial medication intervention includes an inhaled short-acting beta agonist.

A 6-week-old is brought to the emergency department by the caregivers for poor feeding, listlessness, and fever. Assessment reveals a crying infant, HR 160 beats/minute, RR 52 breaths/minute, rectal temperature of 96.0 F (35.5 C), and a bulging anterior fontanel. Capillary refill is 4 seconds. Based on these findings what is the most likely diagnostic test the nurse should anticipate? ☒ Lumbar puncture

Seeing Through Multilingual Corpora Stig Johansson, 2007-01-01 Through electronic corpora we can observe patterns which we were unaware of before or only vaguely glimpsed The availability of multilingual corpora has led to a renewal of contrastive studies We gain new insight into similarities and differences between languages at the same time as the characteristics of each language are brought into relief The present book focuses on the work in building and using the English Norwegian Parallel Corpus and the Oslo Multilingual Corpus Case studies are reported on lexis grammar and discourse A concluding chapter sums up problems and prospects of corpus based contrastive studies including applications in lexicography translator training and foreign language teaching Though the main focus is on English and Norwegian the approach should be of interest more generally for corpus based contrastive research and for language studies in general Seeing through corpora we can see through language

Contextual Language Learning Yu-Ju Lan, Scott

Grant, 2021-08-31 This book presents research and developments in the virtual augmented technology and mixed reality used in language learning and teaching It provides the readers with a comprehensive overview of contextual language learning with the support of immersive technology From theoretical foundations methodological issues the features of virtual and augmented reality and educational practices of language learning to the future of immersive technology for and research on language learning During the past two decades abundant research on different realities has recognized the potential of language learning in virtual augmented and mixed reality environments Wang et al 2020 Lin Lan 2015 Given insufficient studies of Chinese learning in immersive contexts reported in existing literature this book includes several excellent studies about using immersive technologies for Chinese learning in addition to other foreign language learning such as English as a foreign language EFL Since learning Chinese has grown significantly as a global trend the authors vitally consolidate and synthesize various theoretical foundations visions and recent research and practices in the context of Chinese teaching from broader and more diverse perspectives On the other hand the chapters about EFL learning also shed light on the research on contextual language learning Thus the chapters included in this book will likely provide readers with a deep and extensive understanding of the potential of the smart combination of immersive technologies and language learning More issues for future research will undoubtedly be inspired by reading the chapters in this book The Official Guide to MBA

9781351049139 has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license. This volume offers an exhaustive look at the latest research on metacognition in language learning and teaching. While other works have explored certain notions of metacognition in language learning and teaching, this book, divided into theoretical and empirical chapters, looks at metacognition from a variety of perspectives, including metalinguistic and multilingual awareness and language learning and teaching in L2 and L3 settings, and explores a range of studies from around the world. This allows the volume to highlight a diverse set of methodological approaches, including blogging, screen recording, software, automatic translation programs, language corpora, classroom interventions, and interviews, and subsequently to demonstrate the value of metacognition research and how insights from such findings can contribute to a greater understanding of language learning and language teaching processes more generally. This innovative collection is an essential resource for students and scholars in language teaching, pedagogy, and applied linguistics.

Educational Innovation in Economics and Business V Lex Borghans, Wim H. Gijssels, Richard G. Milder, John E. Stinson, 2005-12-17. The workplace is changing drastically these days. As a consequence of the Information and Communication Technology (ICT) revolution, new economic activities emerge, the production process changes, people use different communication tools, and organizational structures are adjusted. All these changes relate to the heart of business and economics, and there is no doubt that they will also influence education in these areas. Of course, ICT provides new technologies to facilitate learning, but a changing workplace also requires a renewed focus within the curriculum of economics and business education. If ICT is leading to profound change in the workplace, is innovation then only a matter of introducing more technology in education? Unfortunately, this is not necessarily true. The translation of changes in the workplace into an improved curriculum requires serious analysis of the essence of the changes at the workplace and the way technology may enable student learning. For example, relevant knowledge is changing faster and faster. Does this mean that we have to adopt the curriculum faster and faster? Perhaps not, as students will have a labor market career of 30 or 40 years. Focusing on today's knowledge, even if it is very up to date, loses more and more value if the life cycle of knowledge becomes shorter. Increased speed of change also implies a decrease in the value of knowing all these things.

Corpora and Cross-Linguistic Research, 2023-11-27. In recent years, there has been increasing interest in the development and use of bilingual and multilingual corpora. As Karin Aijmer writes in this book, the contrastive or comparative perspective makes it possible to dig deeper and to ask new questions about the relationship between languages, with the aim of sharpening our conceptions of cross-linguistic correspondences and adding to our knowledge of the languages compared. The papers in this volume are a showcase of the great variety of purposes to which bilingual and multilingual corpora can be put. They do not only lend themselves to descriptive and applied approaches but are also suitable for theory-oriented studies. The range of linguistic phenomena covered by the various approaches is very wide; the papers focus on fields of research like syntax, discourse, semantics, information structure, lexis, and translation studies. The range of languages studied comprises English Norwegian Swedish German Dutch and Portuguese In addition to purely linguistic papers there are contributions on computer programs developed for the compilation and use of bilingual and multilingual corpora

Pragmatic Markers in Contrast Karin Aijmer, Anne-Marie Simon-Vandenberghe, 2022-05-16 Building on the first volume in the Studies in Pragmatics series which clearly set out the differences and similarities in approaches to discourse markers Pragmatic Markers in Contrast continues the debate through offering a unique and thorough examination of the methods and theories for studying pragmatic markers cross linguistically As a result of internationalisation and new developments in linguistics there has been an increasing interest in cross linguistic studies Aijmer and Simon Vandenberghe have assembled experts in this field to explore the comparison of pragmatic markers across languages in order to offer important insights into the similarities and differences between languages Contrastive studies can also shed more light on the pragmatic and discourse functions that pragmatic markers fulfil in the languages compared Another issue is to what extent pragmatic markers which have evolved from the same lexical source have developed similar functions in different languages An impressively large number of different approaches are represented in this volume as well as a wide range of languages including English Swedish Spanish Dutch German French Norwegian and Solv a dialect of Finland Swedish

Contrastive Corpus Linguistics Anna Cermakova, Hilde Hasselgård, Markéta Malá, Denisa Šebestová, 2024-05-02 Marking 30 years of contrastive corpus linguistics this volume provides a state of the art of the field charting its development over time and expanding the boundaries of the discipline Focusing on a diversity of methods and approaches to language comparison it uses both comparable and translation corpora and explores a broad range of language registers from newspaper reporting and spoken political discourse to film scripts and football match reports Using English as the pivot language for each chapter the volume offers contrastive bilingual and trilingual perspectives on a number of languages including Czech Finnish French German Norwegian Spanish and Swedish covering a typologically diverse field By exploring the application of complex multi genre multilingual data sets and expanding the horizons of contrastive studies it demonstrates how a juxtaposition of cross linguistic and register variation can deepen our insight into language variation and use The volume is dedicated to two prominent contrastive corpus linguists Karin Aijmer and Bengt Altenberg who have decisively shaped the discipline from its very beginnings The book opens with a chapter by Aijmer reflecting on the current breadth and future prospects of research in the area while pointing to emergent trends with an insight that only she can offer

Professional Issues Contrasting English and Other Languages through Corpora Markéta Janebová, Ekaterina Lapshinova-Koltunski, Michaela Martinková, 2017-11-06 This volume is grounded on the latest research in empirical contrastive language studies addressing several issues on contrasts between English and other languages It results from an annual workshop on language contrasts organised by the International Computer Archive of Modern and Medieval English ICAME and covers a wider range of phenomena in phraseology discourse and pragmatics As it relies on data from parallel or comparable corpora it gives valuable insights into cross linguistic differences between English and other languages which might otherwise go unnoticed The book will be useful to experts on language studies and advanced students with an interest in linguistics It will serve as a catalyst to other researchers interested in the contrastive analysis of the English language The results of the linguistic analyses described within will be valuable for practical applications in lexicography language teaching and translation both human and machine including translator training Empirical Translation Studies Gert De Sutter, Marie-Aude Lefer, Isabelle Delaere, 2017-05-08 The present volume is devoted to the study of language use in translated texts as a function of various linguistic contextual and cognitive factors It contributes to the recent trend in empirical translation studies towards more methodological sophistication including mixed methodology designs and multivariate statistical analyses ultimately leading to a more accurate understanding of language use in translations

Patterns in Contrast Jarle Ebeling, Signe Oksefjell Ebeling, 2013-09-17 Combining the fields of phraseology and contrastive analysis this book describes how patterns defined as recurrent word combinations with semantic unity behave cross linguistically As the contrastive approach adopted in the book relies on translations and a bidirectional corpus model the first part offers an in depth discussion of contrastive linguistics with special emphasis on using translations as tertium comparationis and a parallel corpus as the main source of material Central to the contrastive analysis is the use of corpus linguistic methods in the identification of patterns while a deeper understanding of the phraseological nature of the patterns is closely related to the concept of extended units of meaning The second part of the book presents five case studies using an easy to follow step by step method to illustrate the phraseological contrastive approach at work The studies show that patterns weave an intricate web of meanings across languages and demonstrate the potential of exploring patterns in contrast DICES ,2006 Comptes rendus du quatorzième conférence internationale de Mécanique des sols et des
