Winokuer, Darcy L. Harris, 2015-08-10 Praise for the First Edition The book is well written interesting informative thorough and useful As an educator for 43 years this is the sort of text that I would be pleased to use in my classroom I would highly recommend this book It is an important contribution to the field Gerry R Cox PhD Illness Crisis and Loss This core introductory textbook for undergraduate and graduate level courses is the first to combine the knowledge and skills of counseling psychology with current theory and research in grief and bereavement The second edition has been updated to reflect important new research and changes in the field including insights on complicated grief resilience after adverse life experiences and compassion based approaches to death loss and grief It discusses the implications of the DSM 5 s omission of the bereavement exclusion for the diagnosis of a major depressive disorder A completely new chapter on the social context of loss addresses social messages grieving rules workplace policies and the disenfranchisement of many aspects of normal health grief The text also touches upon some of the therapies that have been developed by major researchers in the field to address complicated grief New case scenarios further enrich the second edition The text is grounded in the belief that grief counseling is distinct from other therapeutic issues because it is an adaptive response rather than a form of pathology It describes the unique aspects of grief as a normal response to losses both death and non death related and views the goal of counseling bereaved individuals as one of facilitating the unfolding of the healthy and adaptive aspects of the process as it manifests itself within each client The book introduces various theories of bereavement and examines different therapeutic modalities that can be used in the context of grief and loss Specific counseling practices that facilitate successful interventions are discussed particularly that of presence considered by the authors to be the primary therapeutic stance when working with bereaved individuals The text also addresses grief counseling with special populations ethical issues and self care concerns for counselors Case studies discussion and reflection questions and suggested additional resources are included in each chapter New to the Second Edition New insights on complicated grief DSM categorizations of grief resilience and compassion based approaches to death loss and grief A completely new chapter on the social context of loss including social messaging grieving rules and workplace policies New case scenarios Addresses the unique aspects of grief after suicide and homicide Distinguishes grief complicated grief from depression and trauma New information on the role and use of grief support groups New information on the use of social media and privacy issues Newly developed models of compassion based response for counselors Application of current neuroscience research to grief counseling Use of technology and online counseling Key Features Provides research supported practical guidance for grief counseling and support Regards grief therapy as a unique form of counseling based on grief as an adaptive response rather than as a form of pathology Written by two internationally recognized leaders in the field Focuses on the importance of presence as the most important therapeutic foundation for working with bereaved individuals Includes questions for reflection and glossary of terms

Sport and Exercise Psychology Stewart Cotterill, Neil Weston, Gavin Breslin, 2016-04-15 Sport and Exercise Psychology Practitioner Case Studies focuses on the most current issues in the field integrating research and practice to develop a coherent understanding of current knowledge future research directions and applied implications within the field This is the first book to include theory based case studies for sport performance exercise and skill acquisition in one publication This text provides content that is directly applicable to those students wishing to enter the profession via various national accreditation schemes in addition to providing chartered psychologists with a text that can directly inform their reflections of their own practice Sport and Exercise Psychology is supported by an online learning environment that includes talking heads videos for each chapter further resources questions and links to relevant external materials

Prophecy, Behaviour and Change Gerald G. Smale, 2019-03-04 Professional helpers may harm their clients instead of helping them This is one of the important implications for the selection training and practice of members of the helping professions of the evidence reviewed in this book Originally published in 1977 Gerald Smale argues that the expectations of the professional helper whether social worker doctor psychiatrist psychoanalyst psychotherapist or counsellor can act as self fulfilling prophecies on his or her clients for better or worse In order to suggest how the expectations of the helper might operate the author examines a three stage model of self fulfilling prophecies The stages are the prophecy behaviour based upon the prophecy the outcome brought about by the behaviour Extensive evidence from the fields of experimenter bias hypnosis and placebo medicine psychotherapy casework and counselling research is reviewed and related to the model and the relationship between this analysis and labelling theory is discussed The book demonstrates that it is the behaviour of the worker towards the client which is of crucial importance and proposes that the client's future and his or her personal strengths should be an important focus of the helping relationship Finally it outlines the dangers of negative expectations and emphasises the ways in which expectations can be used to optimum effect
