Unisa Early Childhood Development Past Exam Papers:

Education and climate change Samantha Govender, Mncedisi C Maphalala, Dumisani W. Mncube, 2025-06-15 The book highlights the critical yet often overlooked role of education in combating climate change. It advocates for a transformative educational framework that integrates social emotional learning and interdisciplinary collaboration. Traditional education which focuses solely on factual knowledge is deemed insufficient. Instead, education should foster empathy, provide hands-on experiences, and encourage active engagement in climate solutions. The book outlines various ways education can drive climate action, such as raising awareness, preparing individuals for green jobs, empowering communities, and fostering innovation in higher education. It highlights the interconnectedness of climate change and education, particularly for marginalised populations, showing how quality education can enhance both mitigation and adaptation strategies while supporting Sustainable Development Goal (SDG) 4 and SDG 13. Key chapters discuss successful initiatives such as the Keep it Cool Climate Change Education (KIC CCE) project in South Africa and offer strategies for integrating climate change education into subjects like Natural Sciences and Geography. Ultimately, the book positions education as a strategic tool for promoting sustainable development and building climate resilience. New research findings presented in the book connect education to climate change, highlighting education as both a tool to address climate issues and a domain affected by these issues. The book integrates empirical evidence, innovative theories, and practical examples to ensure intellectual integrity and academic rigour. It introduces a unique framework that emphasises social emotional learning, action-oriented teaching, and interdisciplinary collaboration. Case studies such as the KIC CCE initiative in South Africa illustrate these concepts. The book critiques traditional models and advocates for transformative approaches to climate education, aligning with SDG 4 (Quality Education) and SDG 13 (Climate Action). It also highlights the significance of teacher preparedness, community empowerment, gender equality, and innovation, providing valuable insights for scholars, policymakers, and practitioners addressing the climate crisis. Resources in Education, 2001-04 Government Annual Report of the Republic of Venda (South Africa), 1981 Strategies for Facilitating Inclusive Campuses in Higher Education Jaimie Hoffman, Patrick Blessinger, Mandla Makhanya, 2019-07-25 This volume provides educators with a global understanding of the successes and challenges associated with facilitating inclusive campuses in higher education amidst the growing diversity of students by providing evidence-based strategies and ideas for implementing equity and inclusion at higher education institutions around the world. Transforming Higher Education Through Universal Design for Learning Seán Bracken, Katie Novak, 2019-02-21 Providing insight into the background theory and practical applications of Universal Design for Learning (UDL). Transforming Higher Education through Universal Design for Learning: An International Perspective examines and shares best practice in UDL implementation worldwide to provide strategies for strengthening student accessibility, engagement, and learning outcomes through the development of flexible learning environments. Drawing upon insightful research-based contributions from educators and student service specialists in Australia Belgium Brazil Canada Ireland Israel Norway South Africa Spain the UK and all across the USA this book considers diversity in the form of disability minority ethnic groups gender identities first generation university students and varying socio economic backgrounds brings together key thinkers and actors in the field of UDL and expertly maps its practices to the higher educational domain explores the multiple means of representation expression and engagement that combine to create a successful UDL framework Each chapter not only provides a different perspective of how UDL has helped meet the needs of all students to ensure that education is accessible culturally responsive and socially just but also considers how this can then be implemented into higher education environments the world over This book is a crucial read for those who want to make a positive difference in higher education provision and outcomes

Motherhood in Johannesburg: Mapping the experiences and moral geographies of women and their children in the city Alexandra Parker, Margot Rubin, 2017-11-30 South African cities were designed and legislated to enforce spatial marginalisation of Africans coloureds and Indians to peripheral urban settlements The legacy of this intentionally constructed racially segregated space has been reinforced in the post apartheid period by market forces around property prices informal settlement of land and the unintended consequences of state housing policy amongst other factors Patterns of race based spatial marginalisation have also been overlaid by income and gender factors creating hostile conditions for women and poor women in particular Whilst there is a rich mine of literature on spatial exclusions due to race very little study has focused on the gendered spatial experiences of women and more particularly mothers in South African cities Mothers sustain a number of multifaceted roles through and beyond the care of and provision for their children They engage in multiple spheres of work home education community and politics Straddling these various realms mothers are increasingly active users of a diversity of city spaces In some cases the daily routines of mothers are confined within a single neighbourhood but most often mothers enact their many roles on a day to day basis in many different areas of the city The nature of motherhood as both a relationship of care and a role constructed in society and highly unequal urban conditions often impose heavy burdens financial temporal and emotional However the choices mothers make in the city by traversing diverse spaces in order to fulfil their multiple roles and the responsibilities and costs this inflicts is not well understood This Occasional Paper speaks to this gap by exploring the spatial dynamics of mothers in Johannesburg It investigates how women who self identify as mothers navigate their own and their families daily lives in the city in facing a variety of challenges and obstacles Methodologically the research involved studying the everyday practices and experiences of 25 mothers in the city who agreed to in depth interviews and mapping exercises The participants were a diverse group in terms of geographic location income race age and family situation The women narrated their daily lives and the routes they took through various places and spaces that made up their everyday experiences of the city They discussed their decision making around the choice of home work school shopping and recreation and detailed the social and spatial dynamics of their support networks Exploring these moral geographies of motherhood provides valuable insights into a group of people who engage the city extensively in ways that are under recognised In turn understanding the spatial negotiations that typify mothers lives exposes the depth of spatial inequality and poor urban management of our city region in new ways This Occasional Paper is the result of a partnership between the South African Research Chair in Spatial Analysis and City Planning SA CP and the GCRO and specifically involved a collaboration between researchers Yasmeen Dinath Margot Rubin and Alexandra Parker The insights presented here reflect results from a first phase of research that will be deepened through a larger study in 2018

The Encyclopedia of Female Pioneers in Online Learning Susan Bainbridge, Norine Wark, 2022-07-19 The Encyclopedia of Female Pioneers of Online Learning is the first volume to explore the lives and scholarship of women who have prominently advanced online learning From its humble origins as distance education courses conducted via postal correspondence to today s advances in the design and delivery of dynamic technology enhanced instruction the ever evolving field of online learning continues to be informed by the seminal research and institutional leadership of women This landmark book details 30 preeminent female academics including some of the first to create online courses design learning management systems research innovative topics such as discourse analysis or open resources and speak explicitly about gender parity in the field Offering comprehensive career profiles original interviews and research analyses these chapters are illuminating on their own right while amounting to an essential combination of reference material and primary source

Handbook of Research on Innovative Technology Integration in Higher Education Nafukho, Fredrick Muyia, Irby, Beverly J., 2015-02-28 Our increasingly globalized world is driven by shared knowledge and nowhere is that knowledge more important than in education Now more than ever there is a demand for technology that will assist in the spread of knowledge through customized self paced and on demand learning The Handbook of Research on Innovative Technology Integration in Higher Education provides an international perspective on the need for information and communication technology in education and training Highlighting the use of technology in both formal and informal learning this book is an essential reference for academics corporate leaders government agencies profit and non profit organizations policymakers or anyone interested in the use of technology to educate and share information

Emerging Voices Human Sciences Research Council, Education Policy Consortium (South Africa), 2005 This examination graphically illustrates the conditions that make dreams of a better life for all virtually unrealizable in rural areas of South Africa Through the voices of rural people themselves this study tells not only what the problems surrounding education are but also what can and should be done when the South African government launches its offensive against poverty in rural areas Rigorous and qualitative the text is an overview of the need of great numbers of people for the opportunities and capabilities that education can provide for their futures It also shows the existing situation of many impoverished populations worldwide and illustrates that poverty and inequality continue where such issues are not addressed

Student Politics in Africa M. Luescher, Manja Klemencic, 2016-05-12 The second volume of the African Higher Education Dynamics Series brings together the research of an international network of higher education scholars with interest in higher education and student politics in Africa Most authors are early career academics who teach and conduct research in universities across the continent and who came together for a research project and related workshops and a symposium on student representation in African higher education governance The book includes theoretical chapters on student organising student activism and representation chapters on historical and current developments in student politics in Anglophone and Francophone Africa and in depth case studies on student representation and activism in a cross section of universities and countries The book provides a unique resource for academics university leaders and student affairs professionals as well as student leaders and policy makers in Africa and elsewhere
