Time in Variance Arkadiusz Misztal, Paul A. Harris, Jo Alyson Parker, 2021-09-20. This interdisciplinary volume of essays explores how the notion of time varies across disciplines by examining variance as a defining feature of temporalities in cultural, creative, and scholarly contexts. Featuring a President's Address by philosopher David Wood, it begins with critical reassessments of J. T. Fraser's hierarchical theory of time through the lens of Anthropocene studies, philosophy, ecological theory, and ecological literature. It proceeds to variant narratives in fiction, video games, film, and graphic novels, and concludes by measuring time's variance with tools as different as incense clocks and computers, and by marking variance in music, film, and performance art.

American/Medieval Goes North Gillian R. Overing, Ulrike Wiethaus, 2019-10-07. One of the great virtues of American/Medieval Goes North is its wide range of contributors with fascinatingly diverse relationships to the main terms of analysis. There are academic scholars, poets, filmmakers, tribal elders, teachers at various levels; there are Indigenous people, people from settler colonial cultures, expats, immigrants. Their analytic and imaginative encounters with the North catch at the intensely symbolic and political charge of that locus. At a time when Medieval Studies cannot afford to ignore the period's popular uptake, cannot continue with business as usual in the face of white supremacists' brazen appropriations of the Middle Ages, this volume points to new possibilities for grappling with the uneasy relationships between the American and the medieval. Prof. Carolyn Dinshaw, New York University.
