Danielle S. Willkens, 2024-09-16 Tracing the mutual influence of great architects of the eighteenth century on both sides of the Atlantic Although a good deal has been written about the voluminous intellectual exchange between Europe and the Americas in the eighteenth century across various humane disciplines no study to date has focused on architectural culture despite the fact that numerous Europeans made their way across the Atlantic to design some of America's most important buildings In this groundbreaking work Danielle Willkens authoritatively fills that gap defining and expounding the transatlantic design network of mainly British and American individuals that included Thomas Jefferson the architect John Soane and Maria Cosway an acclaimed painter musician composer and educator who maintained a lifelong correspondence with both Jefferson and Soane Willkens places Jefferson's and Soane's famous homes in a historical and aesthetic context that extends beyond their respective renown as national shrines She shows how contrary to their reputations neither represents the product of a singular architectural vision The contributions of other architects designers philosophers and friends have been effectively effaced from both Monticello and the Soane House Willkens here corrects the record mapping the influence of this crucial hidden network on architecture and aesthetics on both sides of the Atlantic A Microhistory of Early Modern Transatlantic Migration Alejandro Salamanca Rodríguez, 2025-03-25 This microhistory of early modern transatlantic migration follows the journey of the Agata a Dutch frigate hired by Spanish merchants in 1747 to travel between Cádiz and Veracruz Manned by migrants from across Europe the Agata was intercepted by British privateers on its return trip an event that led to the preservation of most of the documents on board including a collection of personal letters Through a microscopical lens this book delves into the lives of some of the migrants linked to the Agata either as members of the crew a ship after all is a moving workplace as passengers or as people sending letters through the ship Their stories and anecdotes illustrate how early modern migrants in the Spanish Atlantic navigated the often restrictive migration laws stayed connected with family and friends back home sent remittances and gifts and built networks to support new migrants A Microhistory of Early Modern Transatlantic Migration is written for anyone interested in the history of migration regardless of their familiarity with the specific historical context It aims to engage both specialists and general readers interested in migration labour seafaring and social history This book also seeks to bridge some gaps between contemporary migration studies and migration history serving as an introduction to these fields for non specialist readers while providing new insights from unpublished sources not previously examined by other historians and offered in translation Teaching the Transatlantic Eighteenth Century Jennifer Frangos, Cristobal Silva, 2020-05-15 The central axiom of Teaching the Transatlantic Eighteenth Century is that the classroom functions as a site for research and collaboration not only as a space that reflects the research of individual teacher scholars but as a generative site to put ideas theories and methodologies into play Whereas transatlanticism has transformed research practices over the last decade the present collection is concerned with exploring what this transformation looks like in the classroom and how the classroom continues to shape research practices in the field Contributors address issues such as how the traffic in ideas people and commodities between Europe Africa and the New World are considered in classroom settings how inter and intra departmental collaborations reshape our approaches to teaching the eighteenth century how and why Transatlantic Studies can function as an introduction to college study and how it can help more advanced students to revise their notions of nation place and identity By now there are a number of anthologies available to help instructors determine what transatlantic material to teach but none that engage why and how to teach it or what teaching it can do for us our students and our profession Rather than simply providing reading lists or a collection of anecdotes about lesson plans Teaching the Transatlantic Eighteenth Century emphasizes theorizing critical engagements with interdisciplinary focus on and the transformative potential of Transatlantic Studies The primary market for Teaching the Transatlantic Eighteenth Century is university college and community college professors researchers and students with three specific subgroups 1 Teachers new to Transatlantic Studies Teachers coming to Transatlantic Studies for the first time will find both suggestions for materials or topical units to be integrated into existing courses e g a unit on transatlantic exchange that could figure in an eighteenth century literature survey course and ideas for developing new courses altogether 2 Teachers already teaching and or researching in the field of Transatlantic Studies Such scholars will find material to broaden their approach to familiar courses and subjects inter or cross disciplinary focus new texts successful clusterings of texts or themes or approaches and ideas for team teaching or linking courses with other faculty 3 Teachers involved in Transatlantic Studies programs especially those that focus on contemporary Post WWII context e g at the University of Dundee the University of North Carolina Chapel Hill and the University of Birmingham Teaching the Transatlantic Eighteenth Century will provide historical context for current geopolitical studies perspective on the dynamics and historical and political forces occurring in the eighteenth century and contributing to 19th 20th and 21st century politics nations and paradigms

Transatlantic Dialogue Paul F. Mattheisen, Michael Millgate, 2014-08-27 The mauve life and times of Edmund Gosse glow warmly in these letters delightful to even the most casual reader engrossing to one with an interest in the distinguished correspondents or in the late Victorian and Edwardian eras An obscure figure today to all but literary connoisseurs Gosse was in his day a near giant in both England and the United States Max Beerbohm that discriminating man in a mural of prominent figures who were also his friends sketched Edmund Gosse large among George Bernard Shaw John Masefield G K Chesterton John Galsworthy and Lytton Strachey This volume consists primarily of a selection of the letters exchanged between Gosse and a number of American writers notably William Dean Howells Edmund Clarence Stedman Oliver Wendell Holmes Richard Watson Gilder Edith Wharton and Henry James The letters most of them previously unpublished contain much of biographical and general historical interest but the main theme of the book is the exploration of Anglo American literary relations during the last quarter of the nineteenth century and the early years of the twentieth The letters that passed between Gosse and Stedman provide valuable evidence for the study of literary taste on the two sides of the Atlantic and also show how each man sought to enhance the other's transatlantic reputation the correspondence between Gosse and Gilder particularly during the period when Gosse was London editor of Gilder's Century magazine is especially revealing of cultural attitudes and antagonisms A central thread is provided by the warm and long sustained friendship between Gosse and Howells the leading American man of letters of his day The long introduction to the book deals with such topics as Gosse's American reputation his immensely successful visit to the United States in the winter of 1884-1885 based on the manuscript diary that Gosse kept during the visit and his American friendships with particular attention to the relationship with Howells The thoroughness and vitality of the annotation are extremely effective in familiarizing the reader with the people and events in the book

Letters and the Body, 1700-1830 Sarah

Goldsmith, Sheryllynne Haggerty, Karen Harvey, 2023-07-04 This collection explores the multifaceted relationship between letters and bodies in the long eighteenth century featuring a broad selection of women's and men's letters written from and to Britain North America Europe India and the Caribbean from the labouring poor to the landed elite In eleven chapters scholars from various disciplines draw on different methodological approaches that include close readings of single letters social historical analyses of large corpora and a material culture approach to the object of the letter This research includes personal letters exchanged among family and friends formal correspondence and letters that were incorporated into published forewords and appendices journals and memoirs Part I explores the letter as a substitute for the absent body the imagined physical encounters and performances envisaged by letter writers and the means through which these imagined sensations were conveyed Part II examines the letter as a material object that served as a conduit for descriptions of the material body and as an instrument for embodied encounters Part III focuses on how correspondents purposefully used their bodies in letters as a means to create intimacy to generate social networks and build a body politic This interdisciplinary volume centred around letters will be of interest to scholars and students in a variety of fields including eighteenth century studies cultural history and literature

Transatlantic Brethren Hywel M. Davies, 1995 Transatlantic Brethren recreates the Atlantic community of Baptists in Britain and America by focusing on the correspondence and connections of the Rev Samuel Jones of Pennepek near Philadelphia Themes such as shared news of gospel success the development of Baptist associations and a learned ministry made for meaningful if not always harmonious communication between Baptists on both sides of the Atlantic during the eighteenth century

BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved Transatlantic Abolitionism in the Age of Revolution J. R. Oldfield, 2013-08-08 Transatlantic Abolitionism in the Age of Revolution offers a fresh exploration of anti-slavery debates in the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries It challenges traditional perceptions of early anti-slavery activity as an entirely parochial British European or American affair and instead reframes the abolition movement as a broad international network of activists across a range of metropolitan centres and remote outposts Interdisciplinary in approach this book explores the dynamics of transatlantic abolitionism along with its structure mechanisms and business methods and in doing so highlights the delicate balance that existed between national and international interests in an age of massive political upheaval throughout the Atlantic world By setting slave trade debates within a wider international context Professor Oldfield reveals how popular abolitionism emerged as a political force in the 1780s and how it adapted itself to the tumultuous events of the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries

Transatlantic Studies Cecilia Enjuto Rangel, Sebastiaan Faber, Pedro Garcia-Caro, Robert Patrick Newcomb, 2019 This book emerges from and performs an ongoing debate about transatlantic approaches in the fields of Iberian Latin American African and Luso Brazilian studies In thirty five short essays leading scholars reframe the intertwined cultural histories of the transnational spaces encompassed by the former Spanish and Portuguese empires

Emigrant Worlds and Transatlantic Communities Elizabeth Jane Errington, 2007-10-16 Emigrant Worlds and Transatlantic Communities gives voice to the Irish Scottish English and Welsh women and men who negotiated the complex and often dangerous world of emigration between 1815 and 1845 Using information wanted notices that appeared in colonial newspapers as well as emigrants own accounts Errington illustrates that emigration was a family affair Individuals made their decisions within a matrix of kin and community their experiences shaped by their identities as husbands and wives parents and children siblings and cousins The Atlantic crossing divided families but it was also the means of reuniting kin and rebuilding old communities Emigration created its own unique world a world whose inhabitants remained well aware of the transatlantic community that provided them with a continuing sense of identity home and family

A Letter ... to the ... Directors of the Transatlantic Steam-ship Company, explanatory of the causes of the return of the Liverpool steamer, to Cork, etc James C. SHAW, 1839 The Popes, the Catholic Church and the Transatlantic Enslavement of Black Africans 1418-1839 Pius Onyemechi Adiele, 2017-09-01 Mehr als 400 Jahre lang erlitten schwarzafrikanische Männer Frauen und Kinder während des transatlantischen Sklavenhandels schlimmste Formen der Versklavung und Erniedrigung durch Katholiken und das westliche Christentum Damals wie heute glaubte niemand an die tiefe Verwicklung der Kirche und des Papsttums in den schwarzafrikanischen Holocaust Trotz jüngster Behauptungen des päpstlichen Offiziums in Rom wonach die Päpste jegliche Form von Sklaverei verurteilten so auch im Falle der Versklavung von Schwarzafrikanern verweisen neuere Studien innerhalb dieses Forschungsfeldes auf das Gegenteil Die Kirche und die Päpste nahmen vielmehr zentrale Rollen in diesem schlimmsten Verbrechen gegen die Schwarzafrikaner seit Beginn der schriftlichen Dokumentation ein Mithilfe zahlreicher päpstlicher Bullen aus den Geheimarchiven des Vatikans und einer Vielzahl an königlichen Dokumenten aus dem portugiesischen Nationalarchiv in Lissabon strebt der vorliegende Band eine kritische und analytische Untersuchung dieses Aspekts des transatlantischen Sklavenhandels an der über so viele Jahre von den westlichen Historikern und Gelehrten verschleiert wurde For over 400 years Black African men women and children suffered the worst type of enslavement and humiliation from the hands of Catholics and other Western Christians during the transatlantic slave trade Before now no one could ever believe that the Popes of the Church were deeply involved in this Holocaust against Black African people Despite the claims made by the hallowed papal office in Rome in recent years that the Popes condemned the enslavement of peoples wherever it existed including that of Black Africans recent researches in these fields of study have proved the contrary to be true The Church and her Popes were rather among the major role players in this worst crime against Black Africans in recorded history With the help of a considerable number of papal Bulls from the Vatican Secret Archives and a great amount of Royal documents from the Portuguese National Archives in Lisbon the present book is aiming to undertake a critical and analytical inquiry of this aspect of the transatlantic slavery that has been kept in the dark for so many years by the Western historians and scholars The results of this studious but fruitful academic inquiry are laid bare in this notable work of the 21st century Pius Onyemechi Adiele is a Catholic priest of Ahiara Diocese Mbaïse and an alumnus of Seat of Wisdom Seminary Owerri and Bigard Memorial Seminary Enugu in Nigeria He obtained his licentiate in Theology from the famous University of Münster and his doctoral degree in Church History from the renowned University of Tübingen in Germany At present he is a research fellow in the areas of African Church History and Enslavement of peoples as well as the pastor in charge of the merged parishes of Lauchheim Westhausen Lippach Röttingen and Hülen in Germany

Transatlantic Conversations Beth L. Lueck, Sirpa Salenius, 2016-12-06 This unique interdisciplinary essay collection offers a fresh perspective on the active involvement of American women authors in the nineteenth century transatlantic world Internationally diverse contributors explore topics ranging from women's social and political mobility to their authorship and activism While a number of essays focus on such well known writers as Margaret Fuller Catharine Maria Sedgwick Harriet Beecher Stowe George Eliot Louisa May Alcott and Charlotte Perkins Gilman other perhaps lesser known authors are also included such as E D E N Southworth Elizabeth Stuart Phelps Elizabeth Peabody Jeannette Hart and Laura Richards These essays show the spectrum of interests and activities in which nineteenth century women were involved as they moved geographically and metaphorically toward gaining their independence and the right to control their lives Traveling far and wide to Italy France Great Britain and the Bahamas these writers came into contact with realities far different from their own On topics ranging from homeopathy and literary endeavors to politics and revolution they conversed with others reaching and inspiring transnational audiences with their words and deeds and creating a space for self expression in the rapidly changing transatlantic world

Transatlantic Images and Perceptions David E. Barclay, Elisabeth Glaser-Schmidt, 2003-02-13 Over the last two centuries Germans and Americans have been rivals friends opponents and most recently allies This 1997 cross disciplinary collection of essays analyses how German and American views of each other developed and periodically shifted providing a fresh analysis of the often complex German American relationship The images that resulted from encounters between the two countries frequently reflected significant cross currents of the contemporary relations and often foreshadowed important trends The nine German and eight American contributors to this volume analysed travelogues private letters diaries diplomatic reports and newspaper articles from the wake of US independence through the reunification of Germany and also post 1945 movies that reflect these cross cultural encounters and illustrate how political agendas prejudices stereotypes and pragmatic forces influenced individual group and mass perceptions of the other society

Transatlantic Subjects Nancy Christie, 2008-02-08 A reinterpretation of the place of colonial Canada within a reconstructed British Empire that focuses on culture and social relations

Nelson Algren Richard F. Bales, 2024-11-01 This book addresses critical gaps in existing biographies of Nelson Algren providing new perspectives on his writing style literary contributions professional colleagues and personal life especially his relationship with Simone de Beauvoir Although Beauvoir maintained a simultaneous relationship with philosopher Jean Paul Sartre the correspondence exchanged between Beauvoir Algren and Sartre as this book discusses sheds new light on her transatlantic love affair with Algren Moreover this work challenges the assertion that Algren's writing aligns seamlessly with the New Journalism style popularized by Tom Wolfe It investigates how Algren's literary legacy might have diverged had he embraced more of the principles associated with New Journalism

Transatlantic Women Beth Lynne Lueck, Brigitte Bailey, Lucinda L. Damon-Bach, 2012 Highlights the social and textual complexity of the transatlantic world for American women writers

A Companion to the Literatures of Colonial America Susan Castillo, Ivy Schweitzer, 2008-04-15 This broad introduction to Colonial American literatures brings out the comparative and transatlantic nature of the writing of this period and highlights the interactions between native non scribal groups and Europeans that helped to shape early American writing Situates the writing of this period in its various historical and cultural contexts including colonialism imperialism diaspora and nation formation Highlights interactions between native non scribal groups and Europeans during the early centuries of exploration Covers a wide range of approaches to defining and reading early American writing Looks at the development of regional spheres of influence in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries Serves as a vital adjunct to Castillo and Schweitzer's The Literatures of Colonial America An Anthology Blackwell Publishing 2001
