Questions H. Hiz,2012-12-06 To the philosopher the logician and the linguist questions have a special fascination The two main views of language that it describes the world and that it expresses thought are not directly applicable to questions Questions are not assertions A question may be apt sharp to the point important or it may be inappropriate ambiguous awkward irrelevant or irreverent But it cannot be true or false It does not have a truth value not just because an utterance like Was the letter long does not indicate which letter is being talked about The indicative The letter was not long has the same indeterminacy In actual context the anaphoric definite article will be resolved both for a question and for an indicative sentence Contextual resolutions are easily found for most cross references A question cannot be either true or it does not describe a state of affairs Neither does it express false because thought because it is an expression of suspended thought of lack of judgment To dress it in other philosophical styles a question is not a judgment it is not a proposition it is not an assertion A philosopher may try to paraphrase a question as an indicative sentence for instance as a statement of ignorance or as a statement of the desire to know Hintikka Wachowicz and Lang explore this territory Or he may interpret it as a meta statement intimating the direction in which the flow of the discourse is going

Post-Covid Transformations Kevin Gray,Barry K. Gills,2022-11-10 This volume explores the implications of the COVID 19 pandemic for the sustainability of the present global political and economic system and the extent to which that system may as a result be undergoing transformation Towards this aim the contributing authors raise a number of key questions First what is likely to be the impact of the pandemic on the current global order based on neoliberal hyper globalization Second what insights do earlier pandemics along with other inter related crises such as those of climate inequality social reproduction and continued fallout of the global financial crisis offer for understanding the medium to long term implications of COVID 19 Third to what extent might the COVID pandemic lead to progressive political transformations Towards this latter goal the contributors to this volume also offer a number of suggestions as to what a post COVID 19 world might look like and how post COVID transformations might be channeled in a direction more conducive towards social justice and equality The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of Globalizations Great

Transformations in Vertebrate Evolution Kenneth P. Dial, Neil Shubin, Elizabeth L. Brainerd, 2015-07-20 How did flying birds evolve from running dinosaurs terrestrial trotting tetrapods evolve from swimming fish and whales return to swim in the sea These are some of the great transformations in the 500 million year history of vertebrate life And with the aid of new techniques and approaches across a range of fields work spanning multiple levels of biological organization from DNA sequences to organs and the physiology and ecology of whole organisms we are now beginning to unravel the confounding evolutionary mysteries contained in the structure genes and fossil record of every living species This book gathers a diverse team of renowned scientists to capture the excitement of these new discoveries in a collection that is both accessible to students and an important contribution to the future of its field Marshaling a range of disciplines from paleobiology to phylogenetics developmental biology ecology and evolutionary biology the contributors attack particular transformations in the head and neck trunk appendages such as fins and limbs and the whole body as well as offer synthetic perspectives Illustrated throughout Great Transformations in Vertebrate Evolution not only reveals the true origins of whales with legs fish with elbows wrists and necks and feathered dinosaurs but also the relevance to our lives today of these extraordinary narratives of change Implicit Incremental Model Analyses and Transformations

Hinkel, Georg, 2021-07-20 When models of a system change analyses based on them have to be reevaluated in order for the results to stay meaningful In many cases the time to get updated analysis results is critical This thesis proposes multiple combinable approaches and a new formalism based on category theory for implicitly incremental model analyses and transformations The advantages of the implementation are validated using seven case studies partially drawn from the Transformation Tool Contest TTC Emma
