Early Childhood Curriculum for All Learners
Ann M. Selmi,Raymond J. Gallagher,Eugenia R. Mora-Flores,2014-08-12 Early Childhood Curriculum for All Learners

Integrating Play and Literacy Activities is designed to teach early childhood professionals about the latest research on play and early literacy and then to show them practical methods for adapting this research to everyday classroom practices that will encourage the development of learning skills. The authors link solid play based research to specific developmentally appropriate practices. By combining these two areas the text demonstrates that academic learning and play activities are highly compatible and that children can and do develop academic skills through play. In addition the text focuses on socio dramatic play a recently acknowledged essential aspect of child initiated play interactions. It provides specific strategies that link these interactive behaviors with the early academic skills needed for the initial primary grades. Implementation of the information presented in this book will enable children to experience a richer transition into primary education classrooms.

Taking Design Thinking to School Shelley Goldman, Zaza Kabayadondo, 2016-12-01 Design thinking is a method of problem solving that relies on a complex set of skills processes and mindsets that help people generate novel solutions to problems. Taking Design Thinking to School How the Technology of Design Can Transform Teachers Learners and Classrooms uses an action oriented approach to reframing K 12 teaching and learning examining interventions that open up dialogue about when and where learning growth and empowerment can be triggered. While design thinking projects make engineering design and technology fluency more tangible and personal for a broad range of young learners their embrace of ambiguity and failure as growth opportunities often clash with institutional values and structures. Through a series of in depth case studies that honor and explore such tensions the authors demonstrate that design thinking provides students with the agency and compassion that is necessary for doing creative and collaborative work both in and out of the classroom. A vital resource for education researchers practitioners and policymakers. Taking Design Thinking to School brings together some of the most innovative work in design pedagogy.

Reclaiming Personalized Learning Paul Emerich France, 2019-10-01 Where exactly did personalized learning go so wrong? For teacher and consultant Paul France, at first technology powered personalized learning seemed like a panacea. But after three years spent at a personalized learning start-up and network of microschools, he soon realized that such corporate driven individualized learning initiatives do more harm than good, especially among our most vulnerable students. The far superior alternative? A human centered pedagogy that prioritizes children over technology. First, let's be clear: Reclaiming Personalized Learning is not yet another ed tech book. Instead, it's a user's guide to restoring equity and humanity to our classrooms and schools through personalization. One part polemical, eleven parts practical, the book describes how to shape whole class instruction, leverage small group interactions, and nurture a student's inner dialogue. Cultivate awareness within and among students and build autonomy and authority. Design curriculum with a flexible frame and where exactly the standards fit. Humanize assessment and instruction, including the place of responsive teaching. Create a sense of belonging, humanize technology integration, and effect socially just teaching and learning. All central issues in equity. The truth is, there's no one framework, there's no one tool that makes learning personalized. What personalized learning companies with a vested interest in profits might tempt you to believe: It's people who personalize learning and people, not technology, must be at the center of education. The time is now for all of us teachers to reclaim personalized learning, and this all important book is our very best resource for getting started. This is a compelling and critically important book for our time. With rich stories of teaching and learning, Paul France considers ways to create the most positive learning experiences possible.

JO BOALER, Nomellini, Olivier, Professor of Education, Stanford Graduate School of Education. This brilliant book is a major contribution to the reimagining of learning and teaching for the twenty-first century and should be essential reading for new and experienced teachers alike.

TONY WAGNER, Senior Research Fellow, Learning Policy Institute. In these troubled times, this book is more than a breath of fresh air; it is a call to action. Paul gives us an accessible and sophisticated book that explains how and why we should celebrate the humanity of every single student.
