Plant Microtechniques and Protocols Edward Chee Tak Yeung, Claudio Stasolla, Michael John Sumner, Bing Quan Huang, 2015-09-19 A proper understanding of the structural organization of the plant body is essential to any study in plant biology Experimental studies in vivo and in situ will lead to structural physiological and cellular changes of the experimental material To study macroscopic and microscopic changes different histological methods and microtechniques can be used as they provide valuable information of the experimental system In addition the observed structural changes allow investigators to set hypothesis for further studies based on one's own observation Thus proper selection and utilization of microtechniques are a must for the success of a research program At present an up to date collection of protocols are not readily available in the literature The latest work in plant microtechniques was published in 1999 by Ruzin but many others are no longer in print e g Jensen 1964 O'Brien and McCully 1981 Furthermore a majority of published works focus on techniques related to general processing and staining procedures A comprehensive treatment that encompasses broader applications of microtechniques to other disciplines is lacking e g archeology wood science etc There is a need to create a comprehensive volume of botanical methods and protocols which includes traditional and novel techniques that can be used by researchers in plant science and investigators in other disciplines that require plant microtechniques in their research and teaching This book covers a wide variety of applications and brings them up to date to make them understandable and relevant especially to students using the methods for the first time It is our intention to create a useful reference for plant histology and related methods that will serve as a foundation for plant scholars researchers and teachers in the plant sciences

The Teaching Botanist William Francis Ganong, 1899 The Application of Hydraulic and Sediment Transport Models in Fluvial Geomorphology Artur Radecki-Pawlik, Tomáš Galia, 2020-12-10 After publishing the famous Fluvial Processes in Geomorphology in the early 1960s the work of Luna Leopold Gordon Wolman and John Miller became a key for opening the door to understanding rivers and streams They first illustrated the problem to geomorphologists and geographers Later Chang in his Fluvial Processes in River Engineering provided a basis for engineers showing this group of professionals how to deal with rivers and how to understand them Since then more informative studies have been published Many of the authors started to combine fluvial geomorphology knowledge and river engineering needs such as Tools in Fluvial Geomorphology by G Mathias Kondolf and Herv Pi gay or focused more on river engineering tasks such as Stream Restoration in Dynamic Fluvial Systems Scientific Approaches by Andrew Simon Sean Bennett and Janine Castro Finally Luna Leopold summarized river and stream morphologies in the beautiful A view of the river It appears that we continue to explore this subject in the right direction We better understand rivers and streams and as engineers and fluvial geomorphologists we can establish tools to help bring rivers alive However there is still a hunger for more scientific tools that we could use to further understand rivers and to support the development of healthy streams and rivers with high biodiversity in the present world which has started to face water scarcity
