Low-Income Students, Human Development and Higher Education in South Africa Melanie Walker, Monica McLean, 2022-07-15 This book explores learning outcomes for low income rural and township youth at five South African universities The book is framed as a contribution to southern and Africa centred scholarship adapting Amartya Sen's capability approach and a framework of key concepts capabilities functionings context conversion factors poverty and agency to investigate opportunities and obstacles to achieved student outcomes This approach allows a reimagining of inclusive learning outcomes to encompass the multi dimensional value of a university education and a plurality of valued cognitive and non cognitive outcomes for students from low income backgrounds whose experiences are strongly shaped by hardship Based on capability theorising and student voices the book proposes for policy and practice a set of contextual higher education capability domains and corresponding functionings orientated to more justice and more equality for each person to have the opportunities to be and to do what they have reason to value The book concludes that sufficient material resources are necessary to get into university and flourish while there the benefits of a university education should be rich and multi dimensional so that they can result in functionings in all areas of life as well as work and future study the inequalities and exclusion of the labour market and pathways to further study must be addressed by wider economic and social policies for inclusive learning outcomes to be meaningful and that universities ought to be doing more to enable black working class students to participate and succeed Low Income Students Human Development and Higher Education in South Africa makes an original contribution to capability scholarship conceptually in theorising a South based multi dimensional student well being higher education matrix and a rich reconceptualisation of learning outcomes as well as empirically by conducting rigorous longitudinal in depth mixed methods research on students lives and experiences in higher education in South Africa The audience for the book includes higher education researchers international capability scholars practitioners and policy makers

Student Loans and the Dynamics of

Debt Brad Hershbein, Kevin M. Hollenbeck, 2015-02-23 The papers included in this volume represent the most current research and knowledge available about student loans and repayment It serves as a valuable reference for researchers and policymakers who seek a deeper understanding of how why and which students borrow for their postsecondary education how this borrowing may affect later decisions and what measures can help borrowers repay their loans successfully Sunk Cost Jillian Berman, 2025-04-08 Exposes the forgotten origins of the student loan system how politicians have attempted to fix it and the life altering damage borrowers face Student loan horror stories are a dime a dozen But students today are faced with a seemingly insurmountable paradox Research consistently shows that the clearest viable option to financial stability is a college degree But if and when Americans decide to pursue diplomas student loan payments quickly follow and even after securing full time employment many borrowers struggle to make ends meet for years In Sunk Cost journalist Jillian Berman explores how the nation's student loan program went from a well intentioned initiative aimed at helping low and middle income students afford college to one that traps borrowers in long term debt Berman interviewed dozens of borrowers and policymakers and dug into the archives to unearth the true causes of the student loan problem A couple of generations ago policy makers generously subsidized Americans college educations because they knew it would be advantageous for the entire country a more educated population meant better quality of life for all But today higher education is viewed as an individual goal so students and their families are expected to be on the hook for it themselves Berman explains how this enormous shift happened which industries benefit from it and what it means for college going Americans today She shares real life stories of college graduates who are being crushed under some of the harshest consequences of the student loan system These borrowers pursued higher education in hopes of a better life and yet some have been trapped in debt for decades making it difficult to put food on the table much less imagine a life beyond debt By connecting personal accounts to the policy history of student loans Berman makes clear that if American society continues to push students toward higher education but fails to truly subsidize it the financial strain will become unbearable for all but the most privileged The current system is broken but Berman proposes that significant changes are possible and will require political will from state lawmakers and Congress along with a philosophical shift to tackle one of the largest consumer finance challenges of our time

Student Financial Aid United States. General Accounting Office, 1995 Federal Student Loans Tatiana Shohov, 2004 Title IV of the Higher Education Act HEA authorises the major federal student aid programs including the student loan programs which are the largest source of aid for students In FY2000 the Federal Family Education Loan FFEL programs and the Federal Direct Student Loan DL program supported an estimated 33.1 billion in new loan volume Several types of loans are available Federal need based subsidised Stafford loans under which the government pays the interest while the borrower is in school a grace period of deferment unsubsidised Stafford loans Federal PLUS loans for parents of undergraduate students and Federal Consolidation loans Overall student loan volume has been increased in recent years from 24 billion in FY1994 to 33 billion in FY2000 The number of loans being made has increased over the same period going from 6 483 000 to 8 618 000 The average amount that individual students are borrowing in any given year has not increased as dramatically This new book examines important issues related to this cornerstone of American higher education Student Loans Janet S. Vedmas, 2005 Title IV of the Higher Education Act HEA authorises the major federal student aid programs including the student loan programs which are the largest source of aid for students In FY2000 the Federal Family Education Loan FFEL programs and the Federal Direct Student Loan DL program supported an estimated 33.1 billion in new loan volume Several types of loans are available Federal need based subsidised Stafford loans under which the government pays the interest while the borrower is in school a grace period of deferment unsubsidised Stafford loans Federal PLUS loans for parents of undergraduate students and Federal Consolidation loans Overall student loan volume has been increased in recent years from 24 billion in FY1994 to 33 billion in FY2000 The number of loans being made has increased over the same period going from 6 483 000 to 8 618 000 The average amount that individual students are borrowing in any given year has not increased as dramatically This new book examines important issues related to this cornerstone of American higher education Federal Student Loan Programs Data Book Donald Conner, Rabab Saab, Karen Cicmanec, 1997 Repay As You Earn Philip G. Schrag, 2001-11-30 In 1993 Congress created a student loan repayment plan intended to enable high debt graduates to accept low income public service jobs by reducing their loan payments and eventually forgiving part of their debts But this Congressional initiative only helps those with catastrophically low incomes It has failed to attract many users because as implemented through regulations of the U S Department of Education it requires payment over too long a period 25 years before forgiveness Many students go to graduate and professional schools in pursuit of careers in public service But they often must borrow 100 000 or more to finance their education Their loan repayment obligations become so high that they can no longer afford to follow their ideals and they abandon their plans to have public service careers and seek employment with corporations or firms offering high salaries The income contingent repayment plan should have appealed to would be public interest lawyers who are among the graduates with the highest debt to income ratios but the plan has failed them and Schrag explores why and how the plan should be reformed either by Congress or by the federal administration Guaranteed Student Loans, 1982 Federal Student Loan Programs United States.
