Adoption of agricultural innovations by smallholder farmers in the context of HIV/AIDS Faith N. Nguthi, 2023-08-28 Using tissue cultured technology is a potentially important way for smallholder banana farmers to improve their yields and income In the situation of the impoverishing effects of high HIV AIDS prevalence in a rural banana farming community this applies even more The research documented in this book examines the balance between required inputs and potential benefits of applying the tissue cultured technology among HIV AIDS affected and non affected households in Maragua district Central Kenya using a livelihood approach The results show that adoption of the technology and its continued use differs according to the resources endowment of the farming households Lack of financial and physical capital notably a water tank inhibits adoption irrespective of HIV AIDS status However households headed by elderly females dominate among the poor households and the HIV AIDS affected households This illustrates how HIV AIDS interfaces with poverty and thereby indirectly with the feasibility of sustainable technology adoption The research also shows that livelihood decisions and strategies of farming households are influenced by land tenure status having title deeds or not and labour constraints at the household level The latter arise as a consequence of HIV AIDS related morbidity and mortality Geomorphology and Society Michael E. Meadows, Jiun-Chuan Lin, 2016-06-17 This book deals with the relationship between geomorphology and society This topic has had rather scant treatment in the literature except to some extent under the label applied geomorphology In this text the authors aim to bring together conceptual issues and case studies of how geomorphology influences society and indeed how society is in turn influenced by geomorphology In an age in which the influence of human activities on global environments has become so paramount that it is increasingly common to refer to it geologically as the anthropocene the book aims to reflect on the geomorphological significance of widespread and diverse forms of human impact in a range of environmental settings
