Britten, Voice and Piano Graham Johnson, 2017-10-03 This collection of eight lectures by internationally acclaimed pianist Graham Johnson is based on a series of concert talks given at the Guildhall School of Music and Drama as part of the Benjamin Britten festival in 2001 The focus of the book is on Britten's songs starting with his earliest compositions in the genre Graham Johnson suggests that the nature of Britten's creativity is especially apparent in his setting of poetry that he becomes the poet's alter ego A chapter on Britten's settings of Auden and Eliot explores the particular influences these writers brought to bear at opposite poles of the composer's life The inspiration of fellow musicians is also discussed with a chapter devoted to Britten's time in Russia and his friendship with the Rostropovitch family Closer to home the book places in context Britten's folksong settings illustrating how he subverted the English folksong tradition by refusing to accept previous definitions of what constituted national loyalty Drawing on letters and diaries and featuring a number of previously unpublished photographs this book illuminates aspects of Britten's songs from the personal perspective of the pianist who worked closely with Peter Pears after Benjamin Britten was unable to perform through illness Johnson worked with Pears on learning the role of Aschenbach in Death in Venice and was official pianist for the first master class given by Peter Pears at Snape in 1972

Felix Aprahamian Felix Aprahamian, 2015 A picture of a highly creative music critic notable for his humane commentary as well as his promotion of contemporary French and British music The music critic Felix Aprahamian 1914 2005 was a remarkable self made man whose enormous influence in musical circles was deeply founded in his practical experience of promoting music in London notably British and French composers Early on he became interested in the organ and was soon corresponding with the leading French names of the day Andr Marchal Charles Tournemire Maurice Durufl and the young Olivier Messiaen In 1933 the nineteen year old Aprahamian visited Frederick Delius in France and while in Paris met the aged Charles Marie Widor The surviving diaries published here complete for the first time document these events in detail During the Second World War he acted as concert director of the London Philharmonic Orchestra was the guiding spirit behind the influential Concerts de Musique Française and became assistant to Sir Thomas Beecham. After the liberation of Paris a wide circle of outstanding French musicians and composers including Francis Poulenc, Messiaen, Pierre Bernac and Pierre Fournier became personal friends. Aprahamian made his name as music critic on The Sunday Times where from 1948 to 1989 he was required reading. He helped numerous young musicians to develop their careers and was associated with many musical organizations notably the Delius Trust and Society. Prefaced by an illuminating biography, this collection sheds new light on Aprahamian's life and work. His diaries and BBC broadcasts uniquely illuminate London concert life from the 1930s to the 1960s while his articles on many composers and musicians, nearly all friends and colleagues, testify to his promotion of French and British music. Examples of his record and concert reviews are included and the book evokes the almost vanished world of a music criticism both humane and strict, paying tribute to music's spontaneous and absolute qualities. It will be of interest to anyone following London concert life in the twentieth century. British and French music writing about Debussy, Poulenc, Messiaen and in particular Delius as well as organ music. LEWIS FOREMAN is a writer on British music and the editor of The John Ireland Companion. The Boydell Press, 2011 and author of Bax: A Composer and His Times.
