

The Enlightenment

Name: _____

Success Criteria Questions: For each question, fill in key information to complete your notes.

1. How did the Reformation and Scientific Revolution lead to the Enlightenment?

The Reformation challenged the _____ of the Catholic Church. Martin Luther and other reformers called for arguments to be made from the scriptures. The Catholic Church leaders or Pope saying something was true was not enough. Claims about what God wanted needed validation from the _____.

The Scientific Revolution challenged the authority of ancient thinkers. Science requires that hypotheses, like "the Earth is the _____ of the universe," be tested and approved through observation and valid conclusions. Galileo and Copernicus could validate their claims that the _____ in the solar system revolved around the _____ with new technology showing what was observable to anyone.

The next step was to challenge the social and political structure of society. The Enlightenment thinkers would ask why birth and _____ had so much power, why the common man is treated as _____, and why there was so much inequality. Words: birth, rank, order, king, power, poor, authority, class.

2. What did Enlightenment thinkers put their faith in?

They believed that human reason and rational thinking could guide humans towards understanding the _____ of human nature and how society works. They trusted their ability to figure out solutions to problems. Human reason was seen to be a _____ force. God and religion to be used to gain the light of knowledge and understanding. Knowledge is liberating. "Enlightenment is man's _____, coming out from his self-imposed minor. Reason is the ability to use one's own understanding without another's guidance. Dare to know! "Mean the _____ to use your own understanding," is therefore the motto of the Enlightenment." Knowledge liberates humans from a ignorance that blocks courage, imagination, love, joy.

3. How could Reason and Rationality create a more humane, scientific or democratic society?

Reason or Rationality was seen to create _____ (perfect) inductive and deductive reasoning. This would allow for the creation of better tools for study and work. The study of human nature (the qualities that make humans human and the conditions that determine how humans think and _____) would help social scientists to create conditions whereby people make better choices. Thus, a shift did occur whereby "educated people" wanted and _____ more power because they were creating _____ change.

World History: Connections to Today Elisabeth Gaynor Ellis, Pearson/Prentice Hall, 2003-12 Understanding Western Society, Volume 1: From Antiquity to the Enlightenment John P. McKay, Bennett D. Hill, John Buckler, Clare Haru Crowston, Merry E. Wiesner-Hanks, Joe Perry, 2011-08-02 Based on the highly successful A History of Western Society Understanding Western Society A Brief History captures students interest in the everyday life of the past and ties social history to the broad sweep of politics and culture Abridged by 30% the narrative is paired with innovative pedagogy designed to help students focus on significant developments as they read and review An innovative three step end of Chapter study guide helps students master key facts and move toward synthesis The Anti-enlightenment Tradition Zeev

Sternhell, 2010-01-01 In this masterful work of historical scholarship Zeev Sternhell an internationally renowned Israeli political scientist and historian presents a controversial new view of the fall of democracy and the rise of radical nationalism in the twentieth century Sternhell locates their origins in the eighteenth century with the advent of the Anti Enlightenment far earlier than most historians The thinkers belonging to the Anti Enlightenment a movement originally identified by Friederich Nietzsche represent a perspective that is antirational and that rejects the principles of natural law and the rights of man Sternhell asserts that the Anti Enlightenment was a development separate from the Enlightenment and sees the two traditions as evolving parallel to one another over time He contends that J G Herder and Edmund Burke are among the real founders of the Anti Enlightenment and shows how that school undermined the very foundations of modern liberalism finally contributing to the development of fascism that culminated in the European catastrophes of the twentieth century

De Lubac: A Guide for the Perplexed David Grumett, 2007-09-03 Henri de Lubac is a dominating figure in the renewal of catholic theology in the twentieth century opposing neo Thomist orthodoxy with a pluriform and historical notion of tradition based on the creative reappropriation of patristic sources De Lubac's adult life encompasses the whole of what Eric Hobsbawm has called the short twentieth century extending from the outbreak of the First World War in 1914 in which he fought to the collapse of the Soviet Union in 1991 the year in which he died De Lubac commenced his theological training in exile in England played a key role in the nouvelle theologie associated with the Jesuit scholasticate at Fourviere in Lyons assumed a leading part in catholic resistance to the Vichy regime was silenced in the aftermath of Humani generis in the 1950s rehabilitated as a peritus theological adviser to the Second Vatican Council and raised to the cardinalate in 1983 This introduction to De Lubac will therefore also provide an overview of the whole of twentieth century French catholic theology De Lubac's work extends beyond narrow theological boundaries Because of this breadth of interest some areas of his work such as his political theology and study of Buddhism have previously received little attention In bringing figures from other intellectual disciplines into dialogue with Christian scripture and tradition however De Lubac reveals the theological significance of their positions as well as demonstrating the insufficiency of their ambivalent attitudes to faith

The Pulse of the Earth Adam Bobbette, 2023-06-30 In The Pulse of the Earth Adam Bobbette tells the story of how modern theories of the earth emerged from the slopes of Indonesia's volcanoes Beginning in the late nineteenth century scientists became concerned with protecting the colonial plantation economy from the unpredictable bursts and shudders of volcanoes Bobbette follows Javanese knowledge traditions colonial geologists volcanologists mystics Theosophists orientalist and revolutionaries to show how the earth sciences originate from a fusion of Western and non Western cosmology theology anthropology and geology Drawing on archival research interviews and fieldwork at Javanese volcanoes and in scientific observatories he explores how Indonesian Islam shaped the theory of plate tectonics how Dutch colonial volcanologists learned to see the earth in new ways from Javanese spiritual traditions and how new scientific technologies radically recast notions of the human body distance and the earth In this way Bobbette decenters the significance of Western scientists to expand our understanding of the evolution of planetary thought and rethinks the politics of geological knowledge

A Cultural Interpretation of the Genocide Convention Kurt Mundorff, 2020-08-25 This book critiques the dominant physical and biological interpretation of the Genocide Convention and argues that the idea of culture is central to properly understanding the crime of genocide Using Raphael Lemkin's personal papers archival materials from the State Department and the UN as well as the mid century secondary literature it situates the convention in the longstanding debate between Enlightenment notions of universality and individualism and Romantic notions of particularism and holism The author conducts a thorough review of the treaty and its preparatory work to show that the drafters brought strong culturalist ideas to the debate and that Lemkin's ideas were held widely in the immediate postwar period Reconstructing the mid century conversation on genocide and situating it in the much broader mid century discourse on justice and society he demonstrates that culture is not a distraction to be read out of the Genocide Convention it is the very reason it exists This volume poses a forceful challenge to the materialist interpretation and calls into question decades of international case law It will be of interest to scholars of genocide human rights international law the history of international law and human rights and treaty interpretation
