Representing and (De)Constructing Borderlands Weronika Łaszkiewicz, Grzegorz Moroz, Jacek Partyka, 2016-02-08 This volume stems from the assumption that broadly understood borderlands as well as peripheries provinces or uttermost ends of different kinds are abodes of significant culture generating forces From the academic point of view their undeniable appeal lies in the fact that they constitute spaces of mutual interactions and enable new cultural phenomena to surface grow or decline and as such are worth thorough and constant scrutiny However they also provide the setting for radical clashes between ideologies languages religions customs and as the media report every single day armies or guerrilla units Living within such areas of creative dynamics and destructive friction or visiting them even vicariously as the contributors to the volume do is tantamount to exposing oneself to a difference One's response to this difference either in the form of rejection or more preferably acceptance or a mixture of both is not merely an index of one's tolerance a platitudinised term itself that all too often hides an attitude of comfortable indifference but an affirmation of humaneness Borderlands are paradoxical if not aporetic loci They simultaneously connote territories on either side of a border in a literal sense and a vague intermediate state or region in a metaphorical sense Encapsulating the idea of border the term indicates both inescapable nearness and unavoidable or perhaps unbridgeable separateness The studies included in the volume focus on various aspects of borderland art and literature on analyses of selected works and on the peculiarities of cultural and literary representations Thus the borderland landscape both literal and metaphorical comes to be seen as a factor contributing to the emergence of new distinct and identifiable themes and motifs as well as theoretical frameworks

Doubled Plots Susan Strehle Mary Paniccia Carden, 2009-09-28 In art myth and popular culture romance is connected with the realm of emotions private thought and sentimentality History its counterpart is the seemingly objective compendium of public fact In theory the two genres are diametrically opposed offering

widely divergent views of human experience In this collection of essays however the writers challenge these basic assumptions and consider the two as parallel and as reflections of each other Looking closely at specific narratives they argue that romance and history share expectations and purposes and create the metaphors that can either hold cultures and institutions together or drive them apart The writers explore the internal contradictions of both genres as seen in works in which the elements of both romance and history are present The theme that flows throughout this collection is that romance literature and art frequently engage with or comment on actual historical events or histories Included among the contributions are discussions of romance and race in James Fenimore Cooper s The Last of the Mohicans the Rudolph Valentino film classic The Sheik the series of English Regency Romance novels the constructs of love and history in two of Alice McDermott s novels and a feminist reading of African American women s historical romances Moreover the essays approach romance and history from a variety of critical and political perspectives and examine a wide selection of romances from the 1800s to contemporary times They look at bestsellers and literary classics at texts by and for white audiences and at works created by writers on the margins of Western culture The anthology is a radical approach to romance a genre often dismissed as diversionary and reactionary It explores how well this genre serves for critical examinations of history

From Shadow to Presence Jelena Šesnić, 2007 This volume departs from a more static concept of identity politics to engage the varied and entangled processes of ethnic racial national and gender identifications in a range of contemporary US ethnic texts from the mid 1960s to the mid 1990s Recognizing the growing salience of variously named ethnic multicultural and minority literatures as they are produced and circulated in the USA and worldwide nowadays this work charts four broadly defined models of approaching such texts cultural nationalism ethnic feminism borderlands and contact zones and finally the diasporic model Drawing extensively on psychoanalytic theory feminist gender studies critical race theory postcolonial theory and its revision of ethnography the book offers a fresh engaged theoretically and analytically well rehearsed overview of the distinctive and determining features of a rapidly expanding domain of contemporary US literary production namely ethnic literatures Of potential interest to scholars of American US literature but also minority and postcolonial literatures and to students of American literature the book attempts an interethnic comparative approach to well and lesser known texts Among the authors represented are Shawn Wong Oscar Zeta Acosta Toni Morrison Maxine Hong Kingston Sherman Alexie Denise Ch vez Rolando Hinojosa Roberto Fernandez and Edwidge Danticat
