

CVL Le Havre des Femmes v. Dubé QCSC

Facts:

- In the midst of a divorce, Dubé was taken in by a women's shelter that employed Nicole Denis as a part-time « intervenante ».
- With knowledge of the resident's assets and alcoholism, Denis invited Dubé to stay with her for an indefinite period and to consume as much alcohol as she wished.
- During this time, Denis extorted $27,662.10 from Dubé. Dubé then sued Denis and the women's shelter.

Issue:

- Was the women's shelter negligent under Article 1053 CCLC?
 - Was it vicariously liable under Article 1054 CCQ?
- (Vicariously: en FR: faute du cocontractant)

Held:

- No
- No

Reasoning:

Analyzing if the Le Harve is responsible under art 1053 of CCLC (art 1457 CCQ?)

- "Toute personne capable de discerner le bien du mal, est responsable du dommage causé par sa faute à autrui, soit par son fait, soit par imprudence, négligence ou inhabileté."
 - Court rejected that there was negligence/(faute) on behalf of the employer : no negligence(faute) in hiring process, they were prudent in that they also told all employees to not host clients in their homes.
 - Le Harve did not have to warn clients that there was risk of extortion (that's weird)
 - Le Harve acted with caution and as a reasonable employer.

Analyzing if the Le Harve is responsible under art 1054 of CCLC (art 1463 CCQ?)

- "The principal(le cocontractant) is bound to make reparation for injury caused by the fault(negligence) of his subordinates in the performance of their duties; nevertheless, he retains his remedies against them."
 - For the employer to have incurred civil responsibility under Article 1054, the burden rested on the victim to prove: (1) the negligence(CVL: fault) committed by the employee (2) the link between employer and employee and (3) that the fault was committed within the normal scope of the employee's functions. The extortion of
 - Dubé's assets took place outside of the normal scope of the Denis' duties. In addition, the wrongful act in no way benefited her employer.

Ratio:

- A court will find an employer vicariously liable for an employee's wrongful act if two conditions are met:
 - (1) it arose within the normal scope of the employee's duties and
 - (2) it benefited the employer, in part or in full.
- The fault/negligence committed by the employer must be partially for the benefit of the employee

The Dube Trahn Summary And Notes:

Claiming the City in South African Literature Meg Samuelson, 2021-08-23 This book demonstrates the insights that literature brings to transdisciplinary urban studies and particularly to the study of cities of the South Starting from the claim staked by mining capital in the late nineteenth century and its production of extractive and segregated cities it surveys over a century of writing in search of counterclaims through which the literature reimagines the city as a place of assembly and attachment Focusing on how the South African city has been designed to funnel gold into the global economy and to service an enclaved minority the study looks to the literary city to advance a contrary emphasis on community conviviality and care An accessible and informative introduction to literature of the South African city at significant historical junctures this book will also be of great interest to scholars and students in urban studies and Global South studies Handbook of Applied Behavior Analysis Wayne W.
