GUIDED NOTES

10 BACTERIA

Definition: Bacteria are single-celled microorganisms that are found everywhere. They are the simplest form of life and can be found in almost every environment. They are responsible for many diseases and are also used in the production of food and medicine.

CLASSIFYING BACTERIA

Bacteria are classified based on their shape and how they move. The three main shapes are spherical (cocci), rod-shaped (bacilli), and spiral (spirilla). They can move on their own or be carried by a fluid.

STRUCTURE

Bacteria have a cell wall, a cell membrane, and a cytoplasm. Some have flagella (tails) for movement. They also have a nucleus and other organelles.

REPRODUCTION

Bacteria reproduce by binary fission, where one cell divides into two. They can also reproduce by budding or fragmentation.

REPRODUCTION

Viruses reproduce by attaching to a host cell, injecting their genetic material, and using the cell's machinery to make more viruses.
