RIS Enable

V20PSIA/V15PSIA: Call Waiting Disable / RIS Enable

IMPORTANT: AAV should not be used when Paging or Alarm Reports are sent to a secondary number unless the monitoring zone option is used (which pauses calls). Otherwise, the call to the secondary number by the communicator after the alarm report will prevent the AAV from taking control of the telephone line, and the AAV "Listen in" session cannot take place.

UL: for AAV, must use Ademco UniCml module or Honeywell AVS system; Exit Delay Restart/Reset must be disabled

SIA Guidelines: Exit Delay should be enabled.

† "Exit Delay Restart/Reset" option allows use of the [*] key to restart the exit delay at any time when the system is armed STAY or INSTANT. This feature also enables automatic exit delay reset, which resets exit delay if the entry/exit door is re-opened and closed before exit delay time expires after arming AWAY. Automatic Exit Delay Reset occurs only once during an armed AWAY period.

Remote Interactive Services (RIS) Enable: This option enables enhanced Remote Interactive Services (RIS), if supported by the communication service in use. If enabled, device address 25 is automatically assigned.

Bell Supervision Note: If a high impedance sounding device is used (ex. 745XC3), the bell supervision resistor (included) must be installed at the device.

Entry 2: Selects the desired phone line fault response.

Option 2 may be used even if a relay unit or Powerline carrier device is not connected to the control.
Programmed Output Device must either be programmed to be STOPPED in field +80 or STOPPED by entry of [security code] + [#] + 8 + device number. Partition in +80 should be set to "0," for STOP.

UL: Field *92 must be enabled for line alarm installations, UL commercial burglar alarm installations and UL residential burglar alarm installations.

If the control unit is used on a UL commercial burglar alarm system which requires 2 methods of remote communication, then the control unit's DACT and the other method of signal transmission must monitor each other against communication failure and line fault. The fault must be received and annunciated within 200 seconds of its occurrence.
